ONE TAXICAB DEMOLISHED, 47 DAMAGED BY BOMB

Windows Also Shattered in Garage of Taxicab Trust Estate at 3337 Lawton Avenue, Where Cars of Yellow and Columbia
Firms Are Housed.

SEVERAL EMPLOYEES IN PLACE NOT HURT

Drivers for the Two Concerns on Strike Since Jan.
1 Last—Missile Apparently Not Heavily Loaded—
$800.

An explosion, the origin of which has not been determined, demolished one taxicab, damaged 47 others
and shattered 27 windows in the garage of the Taxicab Trust Estate, controlling the Columbia and Yellow Taxicab companies, 3337 Lawton avenue, at 12:30 a. m., today. Several employees were in the building
at the time, but no one was injured.
Union chauffeurs, formerly employed by the Taxicab Trust Estate, went on strike Jan. 1, in protest against a proposal of the management to reduce wages, and there have been numerous clashes between strike sympathizers and nonunion chauffeurs employed to replace strikers.

Theory of Detectives.
Proceeding on the theory that a bomb was hurled into the building
in an attempt to wreck it to satisfy a grievance against the owners of the taxicab concern, detectives are seeking several strikers who have been active in recent assaults upon nonunion chauffeurs.

The garage occupies the width of the block between Lawton avenue and Pine street. The main force of the explosion was on the Lawton avenue side, and although the destruction shook the building, the amount of damage done indicated that the missile was not heavily loaded.

Employees, who were in the "fine street end of the garage, ran to the Lawton avenue side immediately after the explosion, but saw no one running away.

Aside from the wrecking of the one taxicab the damage was confined to the breaking of windows. Panes of glass were blown from each of the 47 other taxicabs and from every window in the garage.

Damage Estimated at $800.

J. W. Wallace Jr., manager for the companies, estimates the damage at about $800, with $300, the damage to the building, covered by insurance.
New windows are being put in the taxicabs and they will be in running order during the afternoon.

The explosion was a great surprise to us, as we have had practically no trouble for a month and had thought efforts to inconvenience us were ended," said Wallace. He added the explosion might have been caused by a bomb placed in the building
through a window on the Lawton avenue side, as a window pane broken some time ago by a brick, thought to have been thrown
by a striker, has not been replaced.
A hole about a foot square was found in the concrete floor near the window just after the explosion.

GAS IN LAMP POST IGNITES IN SMASH CAUSED BY SPAN WIRE

Flame Spurts High in Air When Mantle Is Destroyed—Firemen Summoned.

A gas lamp at the corner of Ninth street and Lafayette avenue, aided by a span-wire used to hold up trolley wires for the Cherokee car line,
yesterday afternoon decided to "brighten up its corner." As a result a fire engine company was called to the scene, and the gas post was damaged $10.

The span-wire started the trouble.
It broke and fell against the iron post. The current burned away the span wire and other parts of the lamp and the ignited gas shot high into the air, attracting a crowd.
The firemen came and extinguished
the "fire."

MARRIAGE TO GET OUT OF RUSSIA NEW PASSPORT SCHEME

Many Women Willing to Pay Foreigners Handsomely to Take Them Out of Country.

By the Associated Press.
ODDESSA, March 20.—Marriage-to-the-frontier-only is one of the new forms of commerce in Russia. Women are willing to pay handsomely those foreigners who, by virtue of their passports, may pass freely out of Russia and also enter Poland or Rumania, Germany or other countries, and take with them women passing as their wives. As Russian subjects neither men nor women
may easily get permission to leave Russia, and, if so, the other countries will not receive them.

Agents of Turkey and other Moslem countries engaged in this marriage business sometimes take out four wives at a time, the number allowed by the marriage laws.
Sometimes such marriages of the moment end unhappily. The husband of a Daku lady of beauty succeeded in getting out and then planned for his wife to marry a local official for the journey. The official fell in love with the woman and insisted that she remain as his legal wife, as she has in fact become through her own declaration
before the local soviet marriage Bureau.

DEVICE LINKING TELEPHONE AND RADIO IS DEMONSTRATED

Originator and Newspaper Man
"Listen In" on Love Parley and Fashion Discussion.

By the Associated Press.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 20.— Albert E. Proffitt, originator of a new link between the radio and the telephone, by which he can listen in on neighbors' telephone lines, demonstrated its efficiency when he and a newspaper man heard a Pawtucket swimmer in a supposed conversation with the Providence lady of his choice. They listened also to two women discussing a dress worn
by a newlywed at church.

The receiving set used by Proffitt is in the attic of his home. A short aerial attached to 25-foot poles on the roof are used. The apparatus is of the four-step audio frequency amplifier type, homemade,
with modifications.

Proffitt is a switchboard repair man at the Providence telephone exchange.

DISSOLUTION OF WIRE GOODS EXCHANGE ORDERED BY COURT

Federal Investigators Allege It Was Conducted in Violation of the Sherman Law.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 20.—Dissolution of the Wire Goods Exchange, alleged by Federal investigators to have been conducted in violation of the Sherman antitrust law, was ordered in a decree signed here today
by Federal Judge Knox.

The exchange was charged with arbitrarily controlling 75 per cent of the manufacture and sale of flour sifters, dish covers and other kitchen utensils.

PREMIER POINCARÉ FOR WINE

"If It Were Bad, Fact Would Have Been Known for Ages."

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 20.—"If wine were bad for the health, this fact would have been known since the days of the Romans and Greeks—since the Greeks," said Premier Poincaré last night at a banquet held in connection with the closing of "Wine Week."

"America," the Premier continued, "is, of course, the mistress of her own internal legislation, but she must recognize the truth as stated by the Anglo-Saxon poet—'wine is health, courage and life.'"

BOOTLEGGERS AT MIAMI ASSISTED BY SOME BANKERS

Federal Agents Report Finding No Trouble in Contracting for "All the Liquor
They Wanted."

BROUGHT IN BY SHIPS AFTER NIGHT

Delivery Guaranteed With Purchase Price Held in Trust by Bankers and Contracts Signed.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., March 20.—Evidence that bootleggers along the Florida coast, especially at Miami, are being assisted in their operations by certain Miami bankers has been uncovered by prohibition officers working here under the direction of Col. L. G.
Nutt, chief of the narcotic division of the Internal Revenue Department,
according to the latter's report to Federal Prohibition Commissioner
Haynes at Washington, made public here today. Col. Nutt's report follows:

"It did not take long, after one day's investigation of conditions in Florida, especially in Miami, to determine that a solution of the smuggling problem lay in cleaning up the shore situation, particularly in certain sections of Florida.

"I found that conveying liquor from nearly foreign shores was a minor transaction, compared with the program of bringing it ashore and shipping to Northern ports. Terminate the existing facilities for shipping, smash the shore-line market, was the solution as our trained men saw it, and with that end in view we went systematically to work.

"We were startled by the revelations. We found a sort of co-operative plan among operators. Our investigators were directed to operators with the same frankness that a stranger receives directions from a corner policeman. Operators discussed transactions like gangsters.
Induced several of them gave bankers as references and in two instances after negotiations were closed had leading bankers hold the purchase price in trust and sign contracts to that effect.

"In substance the operators brazenly proposed: 'We will contract for all the liquor you want—Scotch, Irish or champagne. We will go and fetch it in 24 hours and deliver it wherever you wish—say, at your hotel,
at the courthouse, or at the Postoffice.
We will deliver it at the railway station, if you wish it shipped, and will attend to placing it in cars and will buy the necessary grapefruit or tomatoes to cover it up. That is all that is necessary; just pile it into refrigerator cars, with a camouflage of fruit or vegetables and with the cars sealed, the shipment will go wherever you wish.'

"More than a dozen of our investigators, on the first day's operation, reported propositions of the above
character, and in two instances new negotiations were closed, with the aid of bankers, all of which will be revealed shortly in court proceedings.

Many Owned Own Ships.

"Our investigators discovered that many of the operators owned their own smuggling ships. Would make night voyages to a point near Nassau, Bimini or Gunkey, meet a schooner laden with liquor, make purchases at the average price of $18
a case, return the next night and receive double the price from their purchasers, also make a snug profit
on the fruit and vegetables for packing. They would explain that by diluting the consignment could be doubled and even tripled in quantity and sold 'up North' for at least $100
a case, in all a tempting proposition.

"All of this our investigators more than verified and continued for more than a week to carry on negotiations for big and small shipments without trouble. Our men saw the smuggling vessels go north, saw them return, well laden with liquor,
and in one instance, witnessed a flying boat used for the purpose. They had no trouble in having prominent banks act as trustees for purchase funds, even after explaining that it was a liquor deal.

"So brazenly was the law violated in the city of Miami that in several instances the principal prize on punch boards operated in prominent cigar stands, were bottles of liquor.
Our investigators not only made winnings of George Washington, Johnny Walker Scotch and Bushnell rye, but carried away the punch boards as souvenirs.

HONOR STUDENT'S ROMANCE ENDS IN TWO SUICIDES

Norwegian, Sent to U. S. by Government, Found Dead
From Remains of Poison Taken by Divorcee.

SHE ENDED LIFE AFTER PARTY

Note Written by Otto H. Larsen, Boston, Says He Supplied Potion He Expected to Win Honors for Him.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, March 20.—The six weeks' romance of Otto Haldor Larsen, brilliant young Norwegian engineering student sent to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by his Government in 1918 to study American methods, and Pauline Virginia Clark, divorcee and former sculptor's model, who a few years ago was declared to be perfect in form, had a tragic termination in the suicide of both.

Yesterday the body of Larsen was found behind the Museum of Fine Arts where he had swallowed what remained of the poison left by Miss Clark when she ended her life at a gay party in her apartment early last Thursday. It was this poison solution with which he had expected to win scholastic honors at his graduation in June.

Note Says He Supplied Poison.

Whether there was a death pact between the two is in doubt, but letters left by Larsen asserted that Miss Clark had long intended to end her life and that he had supplied her with the poison which he had prepared himself in connection with his chemical studies.

The letter, which was addressed to Medical Examiner McGrath, related how his affection for her had grown since their meeting in January; how Miss Clark, who was divorced from Lieutenant-Commander
William D. Thibault, United States Navy, a year ago, had told him of incidents in her life, of her disappointments and depression and of her determination to end her life.

"I wondered how she could be so long the temptation that death really is," he wrote. "She asked me to procure some poison for her," the letter continued, "and I agreed to do this, extracting from her a promise that she would not use it until her mother came home. She gave me her promise and I prepared the solution for her.

"After Miss Clark's death it was my property and I could use it, I preferred to wait until my testimony
would be of value, then give it and take the rest of the poison, as I intended to do already before I had the privilege of meeting Miss Clark, whom I truly estimated to be one of the world's finest women," he wrote.

Was an Honor Student.

It was Larsen's first love affair.
He came to America as one of 10
honor students sent by his Government and had applied himself diligently to his studies and was known as a model student of exceptional ability in the field of chemistry.

Until last January he had known no girls and was preparing a thesis on well known poisons with which he expected to gain further honors.
Then he met Miss Clark. Their attachment grew steadily and recently friends declared Miss Clark quarrelled with several wealthy friends over Larsen's attentions and was driven to make a choice between riches and the struggling student's affections. She chose Larsen.

Later Miss Clark told him of her unhappiness of financial difficulties that had followed her divorce and of stories of scandal which had been circulated, friends of both relate,
and he expressed sympathy for her and bitterness toward the editor of a Boston newspaper, whom he advised also to take poison "when your inferiority becomes too conscious in your mind, if you have one."

Ended Life After Party.

Last Wednesday night Miss Clark invited several friends to a merry-making at her apartment. Among the guests were Larsen and Bayard Whitman of Philadelphia, a Harvard student. Early Thursday morning, while munching sandwiches and drinking, Miss Clark collapsed, and indicating her intention to take her life, but had shown him two bottles, one of which contained perfume, he said. She died without making a statement.

MRS. ASQUITH HERE, LIKES IDEA OF A BRICKLAYER MAYOR

She Expresses Belief Kiel
Must Be Close to People
After He Greets Her at Union Station.

WOULD LIKE TO SEE MORE OF SENATE

Wife of Former British Premier Not a Fearsome Woman, but a Bundle of Energy and Good Humor.

Mrs. Margot Asquith came to town last night. There can be no question of that. The incredibly fragile little woman of 57 years who descended from a car at Union Station, remarking, "What a magnificent train shed," "this undoubtedly was the wife of the former Prime Minister and author of the famous memoirs.

But where, alas! was the sardonic and heavily-lidded female described in recent dispatches? Where was the formidable and fearsome Margot who had cowed the East? A Post-Dispatch reporter who called at her suite at Hotel Statler was met by a vivid bundle of energy, whose contagious good humor and recurring smile were not dampened by evident fatigue. This Mrs. Asquith didn't draw. Instead, she spoke in tumbling, leaping phrases almost too swift and graphic to follow. And she manifested an almost childlike earnestness to please.

And by being unlike her advance notices, Mrs. Asquith was vastly more likeable. To be sure,
she had criticisms to offer of things merely seen in this country, but
these were given almost solely in answer to questions, and given with
obvious reluctance.

"Likes Newspaper People."

"Now go right ahead," she said, planting her tiny back against a huge pile of cushions in a corner of a davenport and lighting a cigarette.
"I love to talk to newspaper people,
you know. They're very kind
merely seen in this country, but
these were given almost solely in
obvious reluctance.

HIGHER YOU CLIMB, LONELIER IT BECOMES, LLOYD GEORGE SAYS

Premier Tells Children Fannie Brings

CRCETH, Wales, March 20.—
A warning against excessive ambition was sounded by Premier Lloyd George today in a speech to a group of children who called upon him at his vacation retreat.

After pointing out that "the mountain of fame has great responsibility and is altogether an unenviable
spot," the Premier said:

"The higher you climb, the colder and lonelier it becomes. You are exposed to every attack of the elements. Also, it is necessary to deny yourself the comforts of peaceful home life."

80 PERSONS TAKEN IN RAID IN RUSSIAN QUARTER IN BERLIN

Prince and Princess, Baron and Of-

Those Arrested.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 20.—The police today raided a restaurant in the Russian quarter and took into custody 80 persons, among whom were included a Russian prince and princess, a baron, formerly a high officer in the imperial regime and a number of officers of the Bolshevik army.

The Prince and Princess, according to the police report, were playing balalaika, claiming they had to work in this manner because they had lost their fortune in Russia.
Only a few of the prisoners had proper identification papers and they will be deported to Russia. No names were given in the police announcement.

100 RAILROADS ASK FOR INJUNCTION AGAINST RATE ORDER

Allege Commission's Decree, Effective March 1, Is Arbitrary and Outside Its Powers.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 20.—Injunction proceedings were instituted today against the Government by counsel for nearly 100 railroads in connection with the rate order promulgated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, effective March 1, which the petitioners assert is arbitrary and outside the powers of the commission.

Virtually all of the Eastern lines
except the New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio joined in the application to set aside the order, which reduced by 15 per cent,
the proportion of rates on inter-regional shipments given to Eastern lines, and added this percentage to the amount allocated to the New England carriers.

MRS. LILY BUSCH'S ASSESSMENT, AT $484,550, HIGHEST

List of This Year's Personal Property Returns Made Public—Edward Mallinckrodt Second.

Mrs. Lily Busch, widow of Adolphus Busch, brewer, with a diminished personal property tax return of $484,550, is at the head of the Assessor's 1922 list of St. Louis taxpayers. Her return a year ago was $499,340, and in 1920 it was $719,- 240.

The list of this year's personal property tax returns, made public by Assessor Buder today, shows Edward Mallinckrodt, chemical manufacturer, as second to Mrs. Busch, with a return of $477,340, as compared with $535,730 last year and $535,050 in 1920. He headed the list last year.

Equalization Work Begun.

The City Board of Equalization

MINERS' POLICY COMMITTEE TO MEET FRIDAY IN CLEVELAND

Lewis Calls Session Which Will Determine Course to Be Pursued
After April 1.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The General Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers of America was called today to meet Friday in Cleveland to formulate a policy to be followed by the bituminous miners when work is suspended April 1.
The call was issued by John L.
Lewis, international president, and announced here today.

The Policy Committee, which was appointed by the international convention at Indianapolis in February, has full and absolute authority to conduct the affairs of the union during the suspension. It consists of 118 men, as follows: Twenty-four members of the International executive board; 32 members of the Scale Committee of Western Pennsylvania; Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; the four states comprising the central competitive field; three representatives from each of the 19 outlying districts, and the three international officers.

HYDE NOT GOING TO OUST MILLER NOW, HE SAYS

Question of Removal or Resignation Later of Police Commissioner Will Be Covered in Formal Statement, Governor States.

SPENDS MOST OF DAY TALKING WITH MILLER

Governor Summons Police Commissioner to Capital and Takes Up Report Sent by Parents' Committee of Soldan High School.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 20.—
"I am not going to remove Miller
now," Gov. Hyde said this afternoon to a Post-Dispatch reporter, after a three hours' conference with Victor
J. Miller, president of the St. Louis Police Board, whom the Governor summoned here to discuss the situation created by Miller's charge as to immoral clubs in Soldan High School.

"Will Miller be removed, or resign, later?" the Governor was asked.
He replied that future contingencies would be covered in a statement,
which had been in preparation during the afternoon, and which he said
would be issued within a short time.
Until its issuance, the Governor would answer no further questions.

Miller and his brother, Julius Miller, appeared at the Governor's mansion shortly before noon, and they stayed for lunch, then went with the Governor to his office in the capitol,
where they remained and closed with the Governor. Miller was in Jefferson City during the morning, but was not found by persons who were looking for him.

The Governor, earlier in the day
read over Miller's letter, the text of which was published yesterday in the Post-Dispatch, in which Miller said he would not resign, and also the report of the Soldan Parents' Committee, which investigated the charges and reported that they had not been substantiated and that Miller had promised to retract them,
but had failed to do so. The report was approved by an almost unanimous vote at the parents' mass meeting yesterday afternoon, attended by about 1000 persons.

Realizes Need of Action.

The Governor said he realized that the time for decisive action by him
had come, and wishes it to be understood that the delay has not been due to any imperviousness to public opinion, but rather to a desire to be on solid ground when he acts.

Gov. Hyde today received a communication from the Young Men's Agoga Class of the Third Baptist Church of St. Louis stating that the class yesterday afternoon adopted a record of Police Commissioner and requesting the Governor to continue him in office.

The Governor said he had discussed the situation at length on the telephone with a friend in St. Louis.

ALLEGES RICH GIRL'S FAMILY IS TRYING TO GET HIM OUT OF U. S.

"Handsome" Swiss Butler-Yodeler, Held at Ellis Island, Declares He Was Kidnaped.

HEARING TOMORROW
ON HIS SANITY

Attorneys State He Will Tell Story of Becoming Favorite at Pittsburg Millionaires' Club.

By Leased Wire From The New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 20.—A writ of habeas corpus, signed by Federal Judge Mack, was served yesterday at Ellis Island upon James P.
Probst, representing Immigration Commissioner Robert E. Todd, calling for the bringing of August Probst, a Swiss citizen held on the island because of alleged insanity, before Federal Judge Knox, tomorrow afternoon, so his mental condition may be inquired into. Two attorneys served the writ—Bernard Sandler and David Steinhart. While neither lawyer would enter into the details of the case, Sandler said that Probst,
who was 24 and a strikingly handsome man, will tell a most remarkable story when he has his say in court.

Both Sandler and Steinhart assert the Swiss is entirely sane and that he should be released under the usual bond of $500 in which aliens are held while investigation is made of their desirability as citizens. But the story that Probst's counsel say he will tell is that efforts are being made to get him out of America because he and a Pittsburg girl of great wealth and social prominence are in love and want to marry, but the girl's relatives, opposing the match, took the extreme measure of having him kidnaped and placed in the Ellis Island psychopathic ward to separate him from her.

Girl Relative of Millionaire.
The Pittsburg girl, according to the story, is a very near relative of a Pittsburg multi-millionaire. She is a good looking college girl. According to his sworn testimony, which was presented to Judge Mack in the application for the writ of habeas corpus, August Probst, also known as "Archie" Probst, was born in Bern, and came to the country
June 1 last as steward of the White Star liner Olympic. He had a friend in this city, one Max Zimmerman of the Swiss Club, and through Zimmerman
he met the girl, and the Rolling Rock Club at Lionier, Pa., near Pittsburg, wanted a butler. He went to Lionier and got the job.

The Rolling Rock Club is said to be exclusive that its membership
is restricted to 12 families, all millionaires, and all highly placed socially.

Continuing his sworn testimony,
Probst asserted he first got $25 a month, which was increased to $30,
in addition to which he got his meals and sleeping quarters, and was able, therefore, to send money
to his mother in the homeland and deposit $40 in the Lionier bank and $160 with his friend Zimmerman. Probst testified he speaks English, French and German, and served with the army of his native country.

His attorneys assert he is an all-round athlete.

Statements in Affidavit.
The affidavit then goes on in this fashion:

"On Feb. 22, 1922, early in the morning, Mr. Thompson, who, I am informed and believe, is an official of the Rolling Rock Club, entered my sleeping quarters with a revolver in his hand, ordered me to dress and, without affording me an opportunity to obtain my personal belongings and with a gun pointed at my head, ordered me to walk out into the hall, where I was then met by Mr. Gall, the manager, and Mr. Evans, an architect, both connected with the Rolling Rock Club, and between the three persons I was marched to the stable and kept there for an hour.

"I was then forcibly placed in an automobile by Gall and Evans and taken to Latrobe and there placed on a train bound for New York escorted by Gall. When the train arrived at Philadelphia two men whom I believe to be private detectives in the employ of the club, boarded the train and I was brought into New York City and taken to a furnished apartment in West 137th street where I was kept a prisoner
for three days under guard.

"I was informed by my captors that a steamship ticket would be bought for me and the next ship
would take me back to London and that I must never return to this country or ever go to Pittsburg, or write any letters to any person I met at the Rolling Rock Club under pain of death.

Declares He Was Seized.
For some reason or other, Probst's attorneys go on, the detectives
were unable to obtain from him
any consultation a visa for his passage he was released after promising not to have any communication with the Rolling Rock Club. Then he went to Trenton, N. J., where Attorney McIntosh seized petitioner at 1511 Liberty street and dismissed a petitioner a telegraphic message from Washington, issued by

FOR LAST THREE MONTHS

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 20.—
home construction is shown in contracts awarded during the last three months as reported to the division of building and housing of the Department of Commerce.

The department announced today that in 27 states in the northeastern quarter of the country, building contracts awarded in December totaled $101,000,000 and in January and February $75,000,000 each.

Although normally, it was pointed out, these are the months of least activity in building, their contract totals compare with a monthly average of $73,000,000
in 1921.

The Assistant Secretary of Labor dated Feb. 27, 1922, wherein it was charged that petitioner was a person likely to become a public charge at the time of his entry into this country,
and petitioner was brought to Ellis Island and placed in the detention pen to await deportation.

Probst's affidavit said he was arranging with friends to raise $100,000 cases, when two Ellis Island physicians, Dr. H. G. Winden Jr. and M. F.
Shockley, examined him concerning his mental condition, after which he was placed in the psychopathic ward, where he still is.

Probst concluded his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus in the following language:

"Your petitioner is being deprived of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States to citizens of friendly nations and is being deprived of the right to be admitted to bail, as he has been declared insane, which finding by the physicians your petitioner challenges."

Says He Was Favorite at Club.
In speaking of his work at the Rolling Rock Club, Probst said in his affidavit: "Your petitioner, during his employment there, became a favorite of all guests of said club of both sexes."

His attorneys say he will tell in his story tomorrow that he was member of the club members. He was taught to play golf and frequently made rounds with millionaires and their feminine relatives. That he became, because of his good looks and his ability to sing and yodel and play the piano, a great favorite with the younger girls.

The girl in question, he will assert, became especially fond of him,
and he of her. So much so, indeed, that he finally presumed to go to her mother and ask formally for the girl's hand in marriage. The girl's mother was shocked and distressed.

Attorney Steinhart made an affidavit which he attached to Probst's
and which was read also by Judge Mack in hearing the petition for the habeas corpus writ. In the affidavit Steinhart swore he attended a hearing in "Archie's" case on Ellis Island, March 7, and his answers
to questions were clear and lucid.

In the lawyer's belief, he swore the Swiss said he had declared Probst should be released on a bail bond.

The action of the attorneys in serving the writ on a Sunday is said to be unprecedented in the history of the United States. That suit is the only sort, they said, which may legally be served on the Sabbath.

EMPLOYMENT DAY FOR LEGION

The American Legion Employment Committee, which has a resolution adopted Saturday afternoon, asks that citizens of St. Louis, in accordance with proclamations issued by Gov. Hyde and Mayor Kiel, give thought to the unemployed men in St. Louis and devise ways by which the legion can carry out a constructive policy similar to those which the legion in other parts of the country have used successfully in securing employment for ex-service men. The resolution also calls attention to the fact that today has been proclaimed as American Legion Employment day.

Supreme Court Denies Petition to Enter Texas-Oklahoma Line Parley.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The State of Arkansas petition to intervene in the boundary dispute between Oklahoma and Texas was denied today by the Supreme Court.

Arkansas maintained that under its boundaries laid down by the enabling act admitting it to the union,
it was not only the owner of the bed
of the Red River, between Oklahoma and Texas, but also that part of the State of Texas lying west of the State of Louisiana to the 100th degree of longitude and north of the thirty-second parallel of north lati-

NEW YORK STATE
RENT LAW UPHELD
BY SUPREME COURT

Opinion Holds That Act Was Proper Exercise of Police Power for General Welfare of the Public.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The
New York State rent law of 1920 was held by the Supreme Court today to be valid.

The Supreme Court in its decision, which was delivered by Justice Clarke, held that the emergency declared in the act existed at the time the law was passed and that the act was a proper exercise of the police power of the State for the general welfare. Justices McKenna, Vandewater and McReynolds dissented.

The issue was presented in the cases brought by Edgar A. Levey Leasing Co., Inc., to set aside the decisions of the New York State courts holding the law valid.

Justice Clarke stated that private contracts affecting real estate must yield to the exigencies of the public welfare and that the states in such matters have a wide discretion as to the remedies which will apply.

The New York rent laws, which became effective in April, 1920, were designed to check profiteering and to protect tenants in eviction proceedings. Among the bills was one limiting rent increases to 25 per cent
a year.

PASTOR CRITICISES TRYING TO FORCE LABOR PACTS BY LAW

The Rev. Schwittalla Says Public Has Become Sick of Producers' Bickerings.

Danger and futility in trying to force an understanding between capital and labor by laws were pointed out last night by the Rev. Alphonse
M. Schwittalla, S. J., of St. Louis University in a Lenten sermon at St.
Francis Xavier's (College) Church
on "The Employer and the Employee." He referred particularly to compulsory arbitration.

"The public has become sick of the bickerings of those who supply
the necessities of life," he said. "In sheer despair, it pays for meat and bread with the priceless coin of freedom. We stultify our common sense when we refuse to do what common sense dictates and then clamor that we be made to do it by the strong arm of executive power. We are clamoring for more laws and more laws."

"We hold out our wrists that they may be shackled with a law which heats that all is well, because we are protected by a paternal Government and thus we enter captivity more degrading than one of striped suits.
Slavery enslaved the body, but left the spirit free. Enforced political reform may free the body, but it en-slaves the soul. We drag people into righteousness. And so, because arbitration is not resorted to by the mutual consent of the employer and the employee as it ought to be, we threaten to enforce arbitration with the thumb screw of the law."

HONOR STUDENT'S ROMANCE ENDS IN TWO SUICIDES

terday. Today his body is in a morgue awaiting an autopsy.

Extracts From Larsen's Letter.
Larsen's letter to Medical Examiner McGrath, part of which follows, gave further explanation of the tragedy:

"In order that the disgraceful
comment of certain Boston newspapers upon the death of Miss Clark
may be given a chance to come to completion, I take the liberty to tell you in this way what I know of the tragedy.

"Miss Clark is not a 'society belle'
of the pleasure-seeking type. Her charming parties were given to kill the moroseness life had precipitated in her. Defiant of society, too strong to ask for help or sympathy, she had long ago decided upon how the end would be when her many devoted friends no longer could divorce her from the misery of her own thoughts.

"Knowing me for a chemist, she asked me to get her some poison. I prepared for her a solution of potassium cyanide partly neutralized with acid, although I had not anticipated to what end. She promised not to use it until after her mother came back. Neither Mr. — nor any of the other gentlemen in the party had any part in Miss Clark's suicide."

Then Described Party.
Larsen then described the party,
which ended so tragically.

"We had danced and conversed
very gaily. Around 10:30 Mr. — recited on a couch. Mr. — was conversing with Miss Clark and I
with a young lady from Worcester.
I had a suspicion that Miss Clark had told her friends about the poison, also that she contemplated breaking her promise. I took the phial, but gave it back to her after having made her affirm her promise not to use it until after her mother returned. Later, while I was in the mall Mr. — called out. Rushing into the parlor I found Miss Clark dying in a chair.

"I left the apartment after I knew she was dead; unnecessary to say to avoid questioning by non-understanding police."

DRY ENFORCEMENT AGENT WITH GOOD RECORD TO LOSE JOB

L. J. Gualdoni Receives Notice He Will Not Be Reappointed When Term Expires Sunday.

L. J. Gualdoni, a prohibition enforcement agent here, was notified
today that he will not be reappointed when his commission expires next Sunday. Although the agent, a Democrat, asked his superiors to tell him
why he was to be dropped from the rolls, they declined to assign a reason.
Gualdoni attributes his removal to opposition of St. Louis and St. Louis County politicians.

Gualdoni's investigations in St.
Louis County were the chief reliance of Attorney-General Barrett in bringing out proceedings against Sheriff Williamson and other actions against other officials entrusted in part with prohibition enforcement.
He has been a member of the local squad since legal prohibition went into effect.

Chief of Nations, chief enforcement agent, frequently has said that Gualdoni is his most efficient subordinate and recommended his reappointment. Federal Judge Paris frequently has commented that notwithstanding Gualdoni is a relentless
investigator, he has made a "fair and impartial" witness. Recently a jury convicted a saloon keeper with Gualdoni an unsupported Government witness against several witnesses for the defendant.

August Gualdoni has "made" 61
cases, destroyed 23 stills and confiscated $11,000 gallons of mash.

BARRETT TO PASS ON HOME'S
REQUEST FOR PAY FOR BLIND

Decision on Legality of Requirement of $15 a Month as Contribution Asked For.

The protest caused by the recent request of the management of the Blind Girls' Home, 525 Page boulevard, for contributions from its inmates, of $15 of their monthly State pensions of $25, has been referred to Attorney-General Barrett by W. L.
Sturdevant, secretary of the Missouri
Commission for the Blind.

Sturdevant wrote to the Attorney-General, asking whether such a requirement for contributions is in accord with the blind pension law. The law provides that the commission shall investigate all cases in which pensioners are requested to make, or are coerced into making, donations
for any purpose, unwillingly, and that the commission shall "authorize the prohibiting of such practices."

Attorney-General Barrett, in his reply, says that the law forbids the commission any means of enforcing such a rule, there is no legal means by which the commission can prevent such requests, or demands, for contributions for institutions.

Some of the inmates of the Blind Girls' Home have objected to paying $15 a month, but have said they were willing to pay $10. The matter is likely to come to a test April 1, when a pension payment will be made.

HAIRDRESSERS OPPOSE RULING
REQUIRING LICENSE TO CUT HAIR

They Would Be Restrained by It
From Bobbing Women's Hair
Unless They Qualify as Barbers.

The St. Louis Hairdressers' Association, an organization of about 125
proprietors of hairdressing parlors
in the city, has retained an attorney to oppose a ruling recently handed down by the Attorney-General, that persons in Missouri, in order to cut hair, must have a barber's license.

The ruling affects the hairdressers
because, by it, they would be restrained from bobbing hair of women, unless an examination by the State Board of Barber Examiners was passed and a license obtained.
Former Circuit Attorney McDaniel,
in her defense of the association, said
the only way the statute on which the opinion was based could be enforced would be for an arrest to be made, and a test case had. The hairdressers are continuing to bob hair.

MISSOURI LAWYER, HURT IN FIGHT IN COURTROOM, DIES

B. F. Tillman of Carthage
Said to Have Been Kicked and Beaten by Attorney and Prisoner Client.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOUNT VERNON, Mo., March 20.

B. F. Tillman, attorney and land owner of Carthage, Mo., died in a local hospital at 2 o'clock yesterday morning as a result of injuries he received in a fight in the Circuit Court room here Friday afternoon. He was 55 years old, and a nephew of the late United States Senator Benjamin Tillman of South Carolina.

Robert Stemmons, a young Mount Vernon attorney, and Lavanus and Raymond Jackson, brothers, were arrested on murder charges today and bond was set at $7000. Stem-mons furnished it and the Jacksons went to jail. Lavanus Jackson had been serving a five months' sentence passed at the January term of court here on a charge of manufacturing liquor.

The difficulty arose after Circuit Judge C. L. Henson had denied an application for parole on behalf of Lavanus Jackson. Stemmons, attorney for Jackson, in arguing for the parole, strongly criticized Tillman for his part in the prosecution of Jackson and when Judge Henson refused to grant the parole, Tillman asked, as a personal privilege that he be allowed to explain his connection with the case. His request was granted by Judge Henson.

In his remarks Tillman said that "young lawyers sometimes let their ambition get away with them and say too much" and "it is a good thing for a young lawyer to be called down."

It was at this juncture that Stem-mons, who was across the room from Tillman, rushed to the speaker and began striking him. They clinched and fell to the floor. Lavanus Jackson, according to witnesses, began kicking Tillman about the head.
Jack Barker, deputy sheriff, and others in the courtroom intervened,
but Tillman failed to arise after the combatants had been separated. He was taken unconscious to the hospital.

Widow Employs Counsel.

Tillman, who owns about 2000
acres in Lawrence County, 20 miles east of Carthage, and is a neighbor
of the Jacksons, formerly was prosecutor of Howell County. He had taken an active part in a campaign to suppress liquor making in Lawrence County and particularly in the cases of the Jacksons. William Jackson and his two sons were arrested originally and found guilty, but the elder Jackson died.

Stemmons is 30, a world war veteran and a member of a well-known Southwest Missouri family.

Tillman's widow has employed
State Senator Howard Gray of Carthage to assist in the prosecution of Stemmons and the Jacksons.

BENCHJURY FAILS TO AGREE AND IS DISMISSED

By "Hopelessly Divided"
Case of Woman Accused in Connection With Kennedy's Death.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 20.— Madalynne Obenchain, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, will be tried again. The jury in her case last night disagreed and was discharged. Tomorrow, it was expected, her second trial date will be set.

The foreman reported that the jury was "hopelessly divided" and that each of the nine men and three women of the panel had been separated and had confirmed the foreman's report. Judge Sidney H. Newby discharged them. The foreman, Frank W. Crockett, a retired attorney of Pasadena, told the court the division was nine to three,
and had stood from the first to the fifth and final ballot.

After the Court had dismissed
them, some of the jurors told newspaper men the nine, including two of the women jurors, favored conviction, while the three including one woman, had voted for acquittal.
Displays No Emotion.
They said that the "hopeless division" of the jury came on the question of guilt or innocence. They were out approximately 16 hours, of which nearly 24 were passed in actual deliberation, they said.
Mrs. Obenchain, who, with a pale,
downy face, displayed no emotion,
walked out when the jury reported.
She was returned to her cell.
Judge Newby set the case for tomorrow, when, according to the Dispatch Attorney's office, a motion will be made for the setting of a new trial date.

TWO HURT IN TROLLEY CRASH

Joseph Smith, Motorman, and Jacob
Kach, Passenger, Cut and Bruised.
Joseph Smith, 43 years old, of 1171 Butler street, motorman, and Jacob Kach, 35, 4728 Heidelberg avenue, a passenger on a Cherokee car,
were cut and bruised at 8 p. m. yesterday when the car, southbound in Grand avenue, ran into the rear of another Cherokee car at Mercator street.
The other car was standing lightbulb because of a shutoff of the power. Motorman Smith, who was bringing his car to a stop with the power shut off, did not see the car struck, he reported. The car struck was damaged $200, and the other $100.

GEMS OF COOKERY
Beans mixed with amber, peas sprinkled with gold dust, fish with pearl dressing, and lentils with precious stones scattered over them—
These were a few of the delicacies served at Nero's banquets in his Golden House, the jewels being kept as souvenirs.

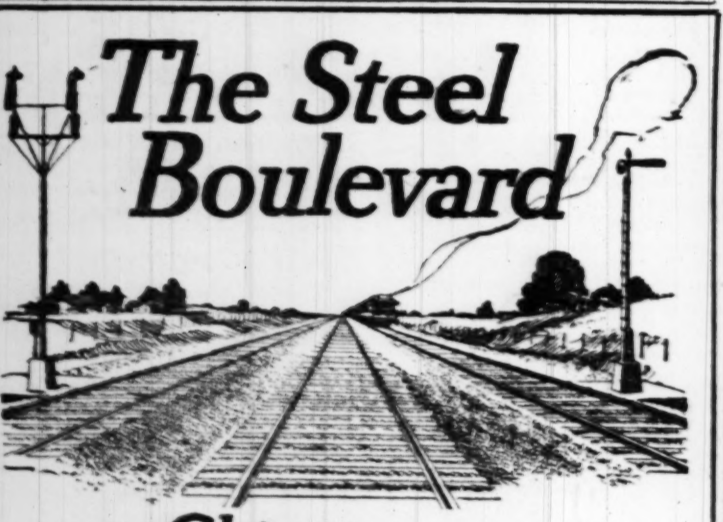

At CHILDS no such embellishments are necessary. The dishes themselves are jewels—real gems of good cookery.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.
Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.
No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "so good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.
Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.
Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 25c.

BRITISH FLAG PLANTED ON WRANGEL ISLAND

Expedition Sent by Steffansson for That Purpose Reached There Sept. 21 Last.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 28.—Wrangel Island, one of the most important islands in the Arctic region, has been claimed for Great Britain by a party of three Americans, a Canadian, and four Eskimos, it became known last night through Vilhjamur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, organizer of the expedition. Stefansson said the British flag had been planted on the island Sept. 21 last.

Stefansson, a British subject, said his fifth and latest Arctic expedition was sent by him into the Northern wastes for the express purpose of claiming Wrangel Island for the British.

About Size of Jamaica.
Wrangel Island is about the size of Jamaica, lying 100 miles off the northeastern coast of Siberia and 400 miles west of Behring Strait. Strategically, the island dominates Northeastern Siberia.

Stefansson said only the leader of the party, Allen Crawford, knew of the mission of the expedition. The Americans, he said, became connected with the expedition purely through love of adventure.

Although Stefansson said he knew of the expedition's success the day following the Wrangel Island landing, he has just made the fact public. He said he intended sailing this spring for England, to present Britain's new possession to the British Prime Minister.

First Discovered in 1849.
Wrangel Island was first discovered in 1849, by a British naval expedition under Capt. Kellett, who sailed close to the land, but did not go ashore, the explorer said. In 1869, De Long, an American whaling captain, discovered the island, which it was assumed, was the same sought by Baron Wrangel, a Russian. In 1925, in 1881, several American naval ships landed men on the island. John Muir, according to Stefansson, was one of the landing party. But all these landing parties, American and British alike, lost claim to the land after the lapse of five years, according to the explorer.

"Nobody landed on Wrangel Island after the Americans were there in 1881, so far as I know," said Stefansson.
Stefansson claims to have financed his own expedition, which sailed from Nome, Aug. 1, 1921.

Negro Convicts in Fatal Snubbing.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 28.—Herschel Jones, a negro serving a six-year sentence from Kansas City, for burglary and larceny, yesterday fatally cut Willis McNalley, another negro, serving two years for burglary from Phelps County, in a cellhouse. McNalley died last night. The two convicts had had a dispute on the recreation ground, and had returned to the cellhouse, when Jones stepped out of line and ran across the cellhouse and attacked McNalley with a knife.

Ultra Styles for Women and Misses

In the Spring wardrobe there is no more important garment than the Coat—and this season it may take the form of Cape, elaborate Wrap or tailored Coat and be equally smart. And in these groups there is remarkable selection, every model a value that will surprise you.

Styles for All Types
—In Interesting Variety
For the slim figure, the tall or the short woman, or those of large proportions there are many appropriate models.

POLO COATS of the sports type are very popular for general wear—all splendidly tailored on smart and distinctive lines.
CAPES of graceful lines and WRAPS of the most exclusive types are high in Fashion's favor for both street and dressy occasions.

The Fabrics in Vogue
—are all represented—including tricotine, piquette, Poirer twill, Pandora, velette, gerona, velour, Ramona and Alonzo crepe—with trimmings of embroideries, silk fringe, self material, metal or leather fringe.

The Easter Wrap could well be chosen from any one of these remarkable groups—and, of course, the earlier your selection, the wider the variety will be.

SIX KILLED WHEN AUTOMOBILE IS STRUCK BY INTERURBAN CAR

Man, Wife, Three Children and Girl Guest Victims of Detroit Skidding Accident.
DETROIT, Mich., March 26.—
Edward H. Ives, assistant superintendent of the Detroit United Lines of Detroit, his wife, three children and a girl guest, were killed when their automobile skidded into the path of a Detroit United Railway interurban car near Rochester, Mich., 30 miles north of here yesterday.
The dead are: Ives, 46 years of age; Mrs. Gertrude Ives, 44; Clinton, 7; Ruth, 4, and Robert, 18 months, children of Ives, and Miss Clara Stasiewicz, all of Detroit.
Edith Ives, 14, jumped from the car
and was unhurt.
Ives was taking Miss Stasiewicz
to the home of his sister at Capac, Mich.

NEW CIRCUS FEATURES ARRIVE

Animals, German-Speaking Chinese and Assortment of Siamese Twins in U. S.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 26.—Two ships, arriving yesterday from European ports, brought signs of spring.
The Sudbury from Hamburg carried a cargo of 57 wild, tame and trained animals for a circus, and one ballyhoo man, claimant of the European side-show barking championship. Fourteen German-speaking Chinese with German wives, all jugglers; nine Algerians, all acrobats, and an assortment of Siamese twins, living skeletons, contortion-ists and bearded and fat ladies, came on the New Amsterdam from Boulogne.

says about Liquid Granite"*

"There she is mate—clean, tight, and tidy as the decks must be. You can rattle your tackle on that. And if a bit of sea slaps over the rail, mop it up, and no harm done."

Liquid Granite makes your floor clean, water-proof, durable, resisting the buffeting of use, standing up under occasional hard knocks and persistent daily wear.

Developed through years of experiment in search of a floor finish at once beautiful, easy to apply, and simple to care for, Liquid Granite gives a smooth, velvety surface that brings out the natural grain of the wood and retains its beauty under the hardest wear.

CHICAGO MURDER TRAIL LEADS TO ST. LOUIS

Brother of Stain Canadian Learns
He Cashed $600 Draft Here
—Rewards Offered.

Investigation of the murder at Chicago last February of John Weinand, 34, a wealthy wheat raiser of Liberty, Saskatchewan, Canada, has shifted to St. Louis because it has been learned that on the day before he arrived in Chicago he cashed a draft for $600 here. Robbery is the indicated motive for the murder and the Chicago police believe it possible that he was followed to their city from St. Louis by someone who knew he had obtained the money.

Weinand's body was found on Feb. 23 in a barn on the outskirts of Chicago. His skull was crushed, his feet bound with straps and his body stripped of all valuables, including a $10 gold piece used as a watch charm.

Identification was accomplished through a suit of clothes found at a St. Louis department store, where a clerk remembered the transaction because he chanced to be a Canadian also.

Weinand, who commonly passed his winters in travel, had stopped off in St. Louis on his way home from Hot Springs, Ark., arriving here Jan. 12. He cashed the $600 draft on Feb. 2 and left the same day for Chicago. Nothing further of his movements between that date and the date of the finding of his body which indicated death had occurred many days before, is known at this time.

Weinand's brother, Charles, came to St. Louis today to learn of his brother's associates while here. He said he would pay $500 for information throwing light on the murder and $1000 additional for information resulting in an arrest and conviction of persons connected with it.

GERMAN WAGE COMPARISON MADE

BERLIN, March 29.—The average German worker's wage is actually earning less than Siamese coolies, hitherto regarded as the lowest-paid workers in the world, figures compiled by the Weltwirtschaftliche Nachrichten sheet.

The German average is taken from the metal workers, who earn comparatively large sums, about 100 marks a day. The Siamese coolies get only 50 cents, or about 140 marks a day at present rate of exchange.

He has grievances—so has she. He bawls her out—the "boo-hoo-boos," and then he's in for it.

"80 YEARS OLD—
INTERNAL BATHS
RESTORED HEALTH"

Mr. D. C. Newcomb, 704 N. 4th Ave., Atchinson, Kan., writes Tyrrell Hygienic Inst., New York, as follows:

"My next birthday is July 18th—80 years old. I've used Tyrrell's 'J. B. L. Cascade' for more than 30 years. Best and only remedy that brings relief without the use of drugs. My experience proved that it always relieves. No danger from it. My ailments were principally Uric Acid, Biliousness, Constipation, etc."

This is by no means an exceptional letter for Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute to receive, as there are now over half a million Americans using Dr. Tyrrell's "J. B. L. Cascade" with like results.

By the scientific use of Nature's cleanser—warm water—it eliminates all poisonous waste from the lower intestine and gives Nature a chance to work unhampered.

You will be astonished at the difference in your feelings the morning after an internal bath. World-Wide Drug Co., 7th and Washington.

will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the "J. B. L. Cascade," why it is so certain in its results, and will give you free of cost, an interesting little book containing the results of the experience of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who was a specialist on intestinal complaints for 20 years in that city. Why not get this book as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.

The Secret of Good Health

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "uneasiness" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

A Delicious Luncheon Only 75c

Served Tomorrow in the Tea Room

Luncheon served in the softly lighted Tea Room, with pretty flowers on each cosy little table, and quick, efficient service, is the pleasant feature of a day spent downtown.

The menu consists of delicious chicken and sweetbread salad with mayonnaise, a cup of fragrant tea or coffee or perhaps a glass of cool sweet milk or buttermilk and hot flaky rolls with pots of fresh butter. For the sweet which completes the satisfying luncheon, you may have a choice of ice cream—vanilla, chocolate, Delmonico or strawberry—and cake, fresh shortcake and cake with whipped cream, or fresh rhubarb custard. If you prefer pie, you may have apple, cherry or coconut cream. This luncheon, complete, is only 75c.

MUST EAT MILLION PEAS IF COUNT IN JARS PROVES RIGHT

Maline Man Begins Proving as Result of Water Made a Month Ago.

By the Post-Dispatch.

BANGOR, Me., March 20.—John D. Wainwright of Maddybemps today started to count the peas in jars said to contain 1,000,000 of them. If there is exactly that number Wainwright will have to eat them, but if that figure is one out of the way figure must do so.

It started in an argument on Washington's birthday. Parish of- fered to bet $2.50 that he could count 1,000,000 peas in a month and Wainwright took him up. After he had counted out 100,000, Wainwright suggested that they amend the wager to read that if the count was incor- rect Parish would eat the peas, while Wainwright would do so if it was correct. Parish counted the first 100,000 over again and was filled with nervous dread when he found that he was three peas out of the way. He proceeded with the count with the utmost care and last night announced that it was completed. Wainwright offered to assume the count was correct and pay Parish $2.50 if he would waive the eating clause, but Parish refused to do so.

HERO OF VIRGINIUS INCIDENT RECEIVES POSTHUMOUS HONORS

British Admiral Who Almost Pre- cipitated War Between U. S. and Spain in 1878, Revered.

By the Associated Press.

SANTIAGO, De Cuba, March 20.—Sir Lampton Lorraine, British Rear Admiral, hero of the Virginus in- cident, that nearly brought war be- tween the United States and Spain, in 1878, was accorded posthumous honors here yesterday when a bust and a tablet to his memory were unveiled with impressive cere- monies.

It was Rear Admiral Lorraine, who threatened to turn the guns of his flagship, the Niobe, on Santiago De Cuba, if the Spanish authorities executed any more of the crew and passengers of the Virginus. They had shot apt. Joseph Fry and many of the crew and passengers. The Virginus, of British regis- try, but flying the American flag, was captured by the Spanish man of war Tornado off the Jamaican coast.

Oct. 31, 1878, when running arms and volunteers to the Cuban forces in the Ten Years War. The affair ended in the payment of an in- demnity by Spain.

SENTENCE OF SLAYER OF EDITOR AFFIRMED

H. Y. Tarwater Must Serve 30 Years for Shooting W. L. Robertson of Gallatin.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 20.—The conviction for murder and 30-year sentence imposed upon Hugh Y. Tarwater of Gallatin for shooting Wesley L. Robertson, editor of the Gallatin Democrat, on Dec. 23, 1919, was affirmed today by Division No. 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court.

Result of Political Contest. The killing was the second to result from a contest between Joshua Alexander, former Secretary of Commerce and the late Judge Frank P. Divilbiss, for the Democratic nomination for Congress, the first being the fatal stabbing of Divilbiss by Robert Lyon, an editor of Richmond, Mo.

Robertson was shot in the office of the Gallatin Democrat, of which he had been editor for 25 years. Prior to the shooting, Tarwater had filed a libel suit against the Democrat for mentioning his name in connection with a "bootleggers' ring." The suit had not been tried when the killing of Robertson occurred.

Insanity Offered as Defense. Tarwater offered a defense of insanity and also of self-defense. He said that he went to the newspaper office to ask that nothing be said of an attempt to have him committed to an asylum (where he had previously been a patient). Robertson abused him and refused to grant his request, whereupon he fired, he said. Other witnesses testified, however, that Tarwater came in, denounced Robertson and the paper, and fired without provocation.

Robertson had been a supporter of Alexander in the latter's successful campaign for the Democratic nomination for Congress in 1918. Tarwater had supported Judge Divilbiss. Shortly after the primary, Judge Divilbiss was stabbed to death by Lyon, who was acquitted on the ground of self-defense.

On two occasions Tarwater had been a patient in an asylum. It was shown at the trial that his father had been insane.

ALLEGED DRUG VENDER IS HELD
Reported as Saying He Arranged for More Than 1000 Parties.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Admitting, according to police, that he had arranged more than 1000 opium parties in this city, Anthony Gessel, 39, was arraigned in Magistrate's Court yesterday and held in $1500 bail for trial. Gessel was arrested early this morning after he had sold, it was alleged, a "tol" of opium to detectives of the narcotic squad for $5. Gessel also has admitted, according to Deputy Police Commissioner

Dr. Carlton Simon, who said he regarded the arrest as important, that he sold drugs to prominent persons at Hollywood, Cal.

HAIR OFTEN RUINED BY CARELESS WASHING

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

A GOOD TONIC FOR OLD PEOPLE

Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Restores Strength
Prevents Illness.

Age people often need tonic. When the blood is clogged with poisons from the waste matter of the body, the body is full of vitality and strength, giving the body great resistance. The weakness of age are greatly helped by a tonic which restores the blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a liquid or tablet form of iron, which is sold in liquid or tablet form. It has been recommended by physicians for 30 years as a reliable tonic and builder of weak and run-down of all ages and childhood to old age.

GIRL HURT BY AUTO THAT DOES NOT STOP

Miss Ogarta Sheppard, Suffers Broken Arm—Driver of Machine Sought.

Police today are searching for the driver of an automobile which struck Miss Ogarta Sheppard, 17 years old, 4340 Maryland avenue, at Nineteenth and Drexel streets, last night and sped away. Miss Sheppard suffered a fractured right arm and lacerations of the head and body. Witnesses obtained a license number which they informed the police was on the machine.

Vincent McCann, 31, of 4911 Union boulevard, suffered a fractured hip and scalp wounds at 5:15 p. m. when knocked down by an automobile that failed to stop as he stepped into the street to take a car at Taylor and Florissant avenues.

Daughter of Hospital Commissioner Jordan Injured by Auto.

Miss Eglantine Jordan, 24, daughter of Hospital Commissioner Jordan, 4159 Lindell boulevard, was struck by a machine driven by Frank Schumacher, 1908 Cora avenue, at Union boulevard and Theodosia avenue, at 9:10 p. m. Miss Margaret Strete, 5233 Pauline place, who was with Miss Jordan, was uninjured. Schumacher told police his machine skidded when he applied the brakes and that he could not avoid striking Miss Jordan. She suffered a fractured right leg and internal injuries.

Woman Is Run Down.

A machine driven by Frank F. King, 4714 Kensington avenue, ran down Mrs. Clara Moore, a widow, 54 years old, 3559 Hickory street, at Grand avenue and Hickory street, at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Moore told police that after King's machine struck her and threw her to the car tracks, a southbound Grand avenue car hit her also, the fender pushing her along. She was cut over the left eye and her right hip was bruised.

Mrs. Catherine Linde, 65 years old, 3147 Greer avenue, suffered a fractured left arm and lacerations of the scalp and body when a machine driven by Harry W. Geiger, 5363 North Market street, struck her at Grand and 14th avenues.

Albert Vance, 2534 Locust street, struck Fred Moore, 11-year-old newspaper boy, in front of 3553 Washington boulevard at noon, after which his machine skidded into a car being driven east by Silas Whitecarver, 497 North Taylor avenue. The boy suffered scalp wounds and bruises.

The signal light post on the east side of Twelfth street at Locust street, which had been broken off by a machine striking it, had been covered with a barrel, and two other cars struck it yesterday within 20 minutes of each other. Fred Godson, 2698 Osage street, drove into

This Gift Test
Brings a revelation—make it now

This offers you a delightful ten-day test—and free. It is a test which has taught millions a new method of teeth cleaning.

The glistening teeth you see everywhere now are due in large part to this method.

It shows the way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. And all in your home, as long as they live, may be benefited by it.

The film on teeth

One purpose is to fight the film on teeth—that viscous film you feel. That is what dims teeth and destroys them. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

Film clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. The tooth brush used in old ways leaves much of it intact. So most folks find that teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay. In fact, tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

Makes teeth dingy

It is the film-coats that become discolored, not the teeth. Most teeth are clouded by it, more or less. Film is the basis of tartar.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. It breeds millions of germs, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So the enemies of teeth and their beauty are largely developed in film.

Two film combatants

Dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists, nearly all the world over, are urging their daily use.

These methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a tooth paste which meets every modern requirement. So every application effectively fights film. It combats this tooth-destroyer as nothing else has done.

Also starch and acids

Gummy starch deposits also cling to teeth. In fermenting they form acids—the acids which cause decay. Brushing rarely removes them all.

Nature puts a starch digestant in the saliva, to digest those starch deposits. It puts alkalis there to neutralize the acids. But they need stimulation.

Pepsodent multiplies that starch digestant. It multiplies the alkalis. Thus it increases markedly these natural protective agents.

Five Things Happen With Every Application

- 1—Film removal.
- 2—High polish.
- 3—Increased salivary flow.
- 4—Multiplied starch digestant in the saliva.
- 5—Multiplied alkalinity, to neutralize all acids.

Dollar-Sign Patriotism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I AM an ex-service man and I am in favor of the adjusted compensation bill. Incidentally, I have tuberculosis in both lungs as a result of my service, and, naturally am drawing compensation for said disability. But I am rather tired of seeing the disabled ex-service men held up as an excuse for opposing the adjusted compensation measure.

I understand that there are 11 Senators who have said that they are unqualifiedly opposed to the bill and would vote against it. I have read the statements of each of them in which they set forth their reasons for taking this stand. I say that they are not in favor of a man "commercializing" his patriotism. Neither am I. Absolutely not. There is no questioning the fact that it was our duty to go to a war, and, personally, I would go again tomorrow, under the same conditions that existed in 1917. If Uncle Sam would take me. But I want to ask where is the justice in paying the man who uses the rifle $1 a day and the man who stays at home and makes the rifle from $8 to $12 per day? They tell us that we should not raise a howl even if we received nothing except subsistence, as we were doing our plain duty and nothing more. Certainly, we were only doing our duty, but were not industrial workers merely doing their plain duty? Should the man who makes a target of himself be willing to sacrifice more than the man who stays at home and works in the shipyards and munitions factory? If these Senators are so much in favor of a man being so patriotic that he serve during an emergency for a nominal wage, why did not some of them introduce a bill to reduce Senators' salary to $30 a month, and board and clothes, "during the period of the emergency"? Should a soldier be more patriotic than a Senator? I did not hear any howl go up when the last act was passed, by which manufacturers, whose contracts were canceled when the armistice was signed, were reimbursed.

I maintain that the ex-service man is entitled to adjusted compensation on the same grounds that the manufacturers who suffered canceled contracts at the signing of the armistice were reimbursed and on the same grounds that the railroads were reimbursed for financial loss during Federal control. It is a fact that thousands of men suffered financial loss as a result of their service, and I claim that the one should not be asked to make a greater sacrifice than the other.

A. J. L.

Stillwater, Ok.

Should Be Voluntary.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I YIELD in no wise to C. A. K.'s firmness of conviction regarding the death of the Savior, believing myself, as he so finely confesses in his letter, I deem his advice on the manner of how to commemorate this awful sacrifice by devoting a part of Good Friday to introduction, meditation and contemplation admirable if addressed to Christians. But I balk at anything like legal enactments, or official recommendations even, to bring about a national or patriotic cessation of the common activities of our complex present-day life, mainly for this reason: Good Friday cannot be placed on a level with any of our national holidays, pertaining to nothing but national needs. No proof. Secondly, all things should be avoided that tend to bring aversion to sacred truths in unbelievers. Let us have free room for moral suasion. The strong arm of the law is for the repression of malefactors; it is not defensible enough for the handling of spiritual things.

F. K.

Read and the Party.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN reference to Senator Reed, who will probably ask Democratic support in his candidacy for re-election—his ability and honesty may not be questioned. The point is that Reed, elected by Democratic votes, ceased to represent his constituency and his party on all the important issues (on the majority of the issues) when he aligned himself with the opposition. In view of this fact, how can Senator Reed expect the Democratic voters to vote for his re-election, thereby endorsing his acts while in the Senate? It is natural for Missouri Democrats to want a Democrat in the Senate and a man who will act with and not against his party; otherwise there would be no need for party primaries.

A. C. R.

Appreciation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Missouri Association for Occupational Therapy wishes to express its appreciation of the generous and helpful publicity given the work of occupational therapy of the city and State at all times, and especially at the time of the association's third annual meeting held March 7.

We realize that, owing to this newspaper's publicity, occupational therapy has been recognized and introduced more rapidly in public and private institutions throughout this city and State than would otherwise have been possible.

M. R. CLOPTON, President.

MILLER MUST GO.

The verdict of the Parents' Committee of Soldan High School in the case of Victor J. Miller, President of the Board of Police Commissioners against the public schools, Soldan in particular, and the school children has been rendered to the Soldan parents and the public. It is a complete exoneration of Soldan and the school children of the Miller charge that vice clubs of boys and girls exist. There was no evidence worthy of credence to support the Miller charges or pointing to any unusual delinquency among St. Louis school children. The evidence submitted by Miller was disproved, or irrelevant, or "hearsay upon hearsay."

The exoneration of Soldan and the school children, however, is a condemnation of Victor J. Miller. According to the committee's report Miller admitted he had no evidence to support his charge and "stated that in the light of the evidence he regretted exceedingly having made these specific charges and that he would prepare, sign and hand to the committee the following day a retraction of his statement that vice clubs existed at Soldan."

Instead of making the promised retraction Miller made a plea in abatement, defended his course, condemned the committee, demanded another committee and told the Governor he would not resign.

While evading the issue, promising to retract and making demagogic pleas, Miller has made his first offense worse by attempting, through detective agencies and the records of juvenile delinquency, to fix the stain he cast on the schools.

The suggestion of another committee by Miller and his friends is abominable. It would supply another avenue for the mess of scandalous rumors and hearsay charges reflecting upon the schools and the school children. Undoubtedly there is a percentage of juvenile delinquency in this city, as there is in all cities, but the cases of delinquency should be handled by the Juvenile Court, under the children's code, designed for the purpose, or by the school authorities or parents. St. Louis has had enough of public scandalizing without regard to actual facts.

The records and the facts of the Miller case are before the Governor. We indulge the hope that the decisive action he promised in the event Miller failed to substantiate his charges will put an end to the scandal mongering of the past 10 days. Miller must go.

The Pittsburgh millionaire is back in the headlines, but his fancy that once lightly turned to the chorus is now directed towards the United States Senate. From tights to togas, eh, what?

THE LAUNDRYING OF RUSSIA.

If the latest news from Moscow is correct Trotsky has a great dream which, fulfilled, will mean the physical Americanization of Russia.

The Russia of filth has become distasteful to the Soviet War Minister. In his vision he beholds the moujik transformed, regenerated. The new order is not to be brought about by economic vagaries or Utopian patter. It is to be accomplished by the tailor, barber, plumber and the like, as those craftsmen do their work in America.

Trotsky would have the moujik an upstanding chap, from whose posture the last vestige of the tragic Slavic slouch has been eradicated; a cold plunge in the morning, the daily shave, hair cut every fortnight, clothes frequently pressed; a snappy, meticulous person, quite at home in one of our national clothing advertisements, capable of serving as model for the illustrators of our efficiency fiction.

This sartorial and habitual miracle is to be performed by the army. That slovenly tatterdemalion which Trotsky first commanded is now said to be a well-drilled, properly uniformed force. It exemplifies the value of cleanliness. It has swapped its grease spots for self-respect. Why can it not teach the civilians what it has itself learned?

The present Trotsky faith may be rank heresy to the old-line communist. Certainly the practices advocated are utterly bourgeois. Just the same, if Trotsky can persuade his Russians to discard stolidity, equalizer and bombs for a safety-razor, well-groomed scale of living he will have won a place among the prodigies.

THE PERILS OF TRAVEL.

Senator Borah is entitled to a tin star. He has detected something that gravely concerns the nation's existence. The disclosure came out in connection with remarks attributed to former Gov. Lowden of Illinois while at Naples. These remarks Senator Robinson had placed in the Senate record. Gov. Lowden was quoted as having declared there were indications that the American Government made two grave mistakes, first, when it declined to become a member of the League of Nations, and, second, when it refused to participate in the Genoa economic conference.

This sentiment, of course, is hot blood, to the irreconcilables. The Senator from Idaho lifted his voice in fervid thanksgiving that Gov. Lowden had not been nominated and elected to the presidency. But his brow must have lowered ominously and his voice have softened to a Sherlock Holmes whisper when he announced: "But I have noticed before the peculiar influence of these European trips."

Americans who have been to Europe and witnessed the lamentable economic conditions there, who have seen the burden of debt and depreciated currency paralyzing industry and trade, have caught the earnest spirit of the people for world brotherhood and an end to wars and reprisals—what capacity can there be left in such men to guard the eighteenth century traditions of a little America? What good are such watchdogs to chain to the kennel of our isolation?

Take the case of Harvey. Col. George was as pure an isolationist and hater of foreign devils as could have strutted from the field of Republican triumph a year and a half ago. Look at him today. Though early committing himself, after reaching London, against the League of Nations, he has come to see himself a voiceless sinner in at councils, where it is certain he would very much like to talk, while our absence from the Reparations Commission has raised an obstacle to the collection of $241,000,000 reparations due us for supporting our troops on the Rhine. Moreover, Harvey, as a diplomat, has so far lost his resistance to the spirit of amity in the Court of St. James that he is being fiercely lambasted and disowned by our leading British balters in and out of the Senate.

For Senator Borah's cause, it is easy to believe, "these European trips" are demoralizing. They teach facts, they dispel suspicion, hatred and mistrust, they encourage fraternity of peoples and Governments, they impart vision and make men forget to worship the chance remarks of their ancestors. They are altogether bad for the business of irreconciling. Senator Borah should stick to his guns. If he cannot have an embargo placed on prominent citizens who would embark for other lands he can at least forewarn his countrymen of the pitfalls of international neighborliness.

Detroit is to be congratulated on the alertness of her police who detected a public auction of liquor on a crowded business street and quickly stopped it. The bootleggers must be taught that they cannot peddle their goods on the streets of our cities, yet.

CHIVALRY AMONG CONVICTS.

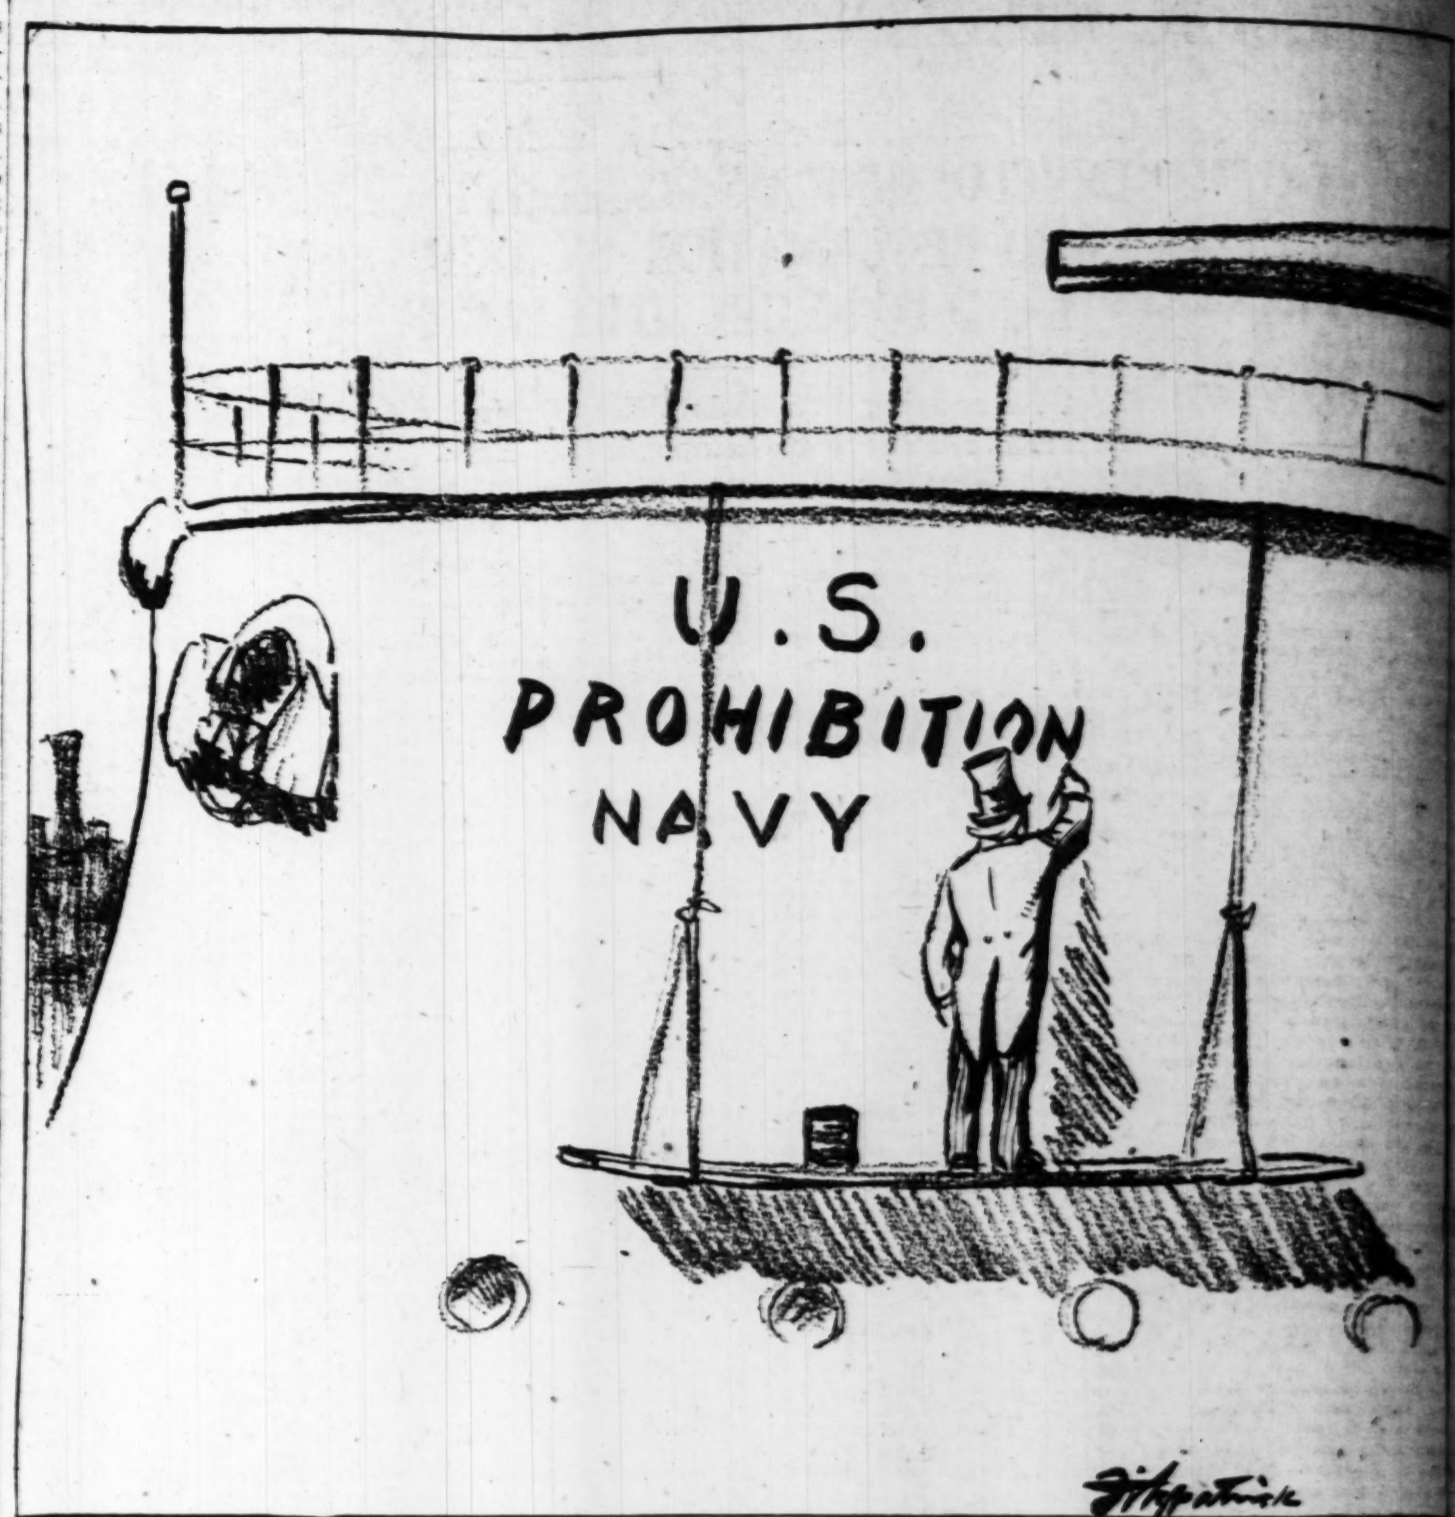

It was not a civic society, a social club, a benevolent or religious organization which passed the hat to reimburse in part the elderly, self-dependent woman who, at the St. Louis Union Station, was swindled out of $30, her savings of a lifetime. It was a number of convicts in the Missouri State Penitentiary who resolved to cut down on their only luxury—cigarettes—to rehabilitate the forlorn victim of a miserable theft.

To be sure, it was not kindness and sympathy alone that moved the convicts. It was a feeling of outraged class pride. It was an organized protest against an aspersions cast upon men who, though convicted of crime, were willing to make a sacrifice to prove that they were not devoid of a decent chivalry. There is an old saw, taken usually in jest, about "honor among thieves." But this little incident ought to establish that there is much worth reclaiming in men who have done battle with law and principle—quite as much as in the commercial freebooter, who cuts wages to make fat dividends faster and puts a holy face on his meanness with an ostentation of charity and reform.

The bad men are not all in prison. It appears that a good many potentially good men are.

And it is about time, too, for some solemn chap to get up and tell us that Vic Miller is good to his folks.

In the absence of an eyewitness to the authorship of the four-power treaty, has it occurred to hell-roaring Hiram to take the words of the document for what they are worth?

Dear All Baba:
Once, years ago, when Spring hit me a little harder than usual, I sang of mushrooms.
Holding my lyre as tightly between my knees as ever Homer held his.
I lifted my face to the reddening sky and sang frankly:
Blithely,
Unchastened
The flavor of mushrooms.

Gads, how my soul took wing and sailed the ethereal heights!
How Time rolled back its scroll.
And how we did see, each in his turn,
The great epicures making delectable their feasts with this symbol of Spring!

Very well, All Baba.
On every turning of Spring since then,
Just when the first birds are beginning to sing.

You have sent me a basket of mushrooms with the compliments of yourself and your brother Casim.

You have never forgotten.
I sometimes have forgotten and had to open the basket to remember—
But you have never forgotten.
Each Spring, just as the crocus wakes,
Just as the poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,
Marks the softer fire in the west at sunset,
You have unfailingly sent the basket of mushrooms.

Now, All Baba:
You must discover yourself to me.
You and I and your brother Casim must sit down and talk it over.

One cannot be at a disadvantage always—
Not even for mushrooms.
Suppose we go to the robbers' cave and discuss your right to keep me always indebted to you because I do not know who you are.

Maybe Casim will come.
He was ever a shrewd fellow.
We will debate that right to see if it exists—
Not as they do in the Senate,
Debating insincerely,
But sincerely rather.

It seems to me that since you send me mushrooms,
My dear All Baba,
I ought to be sending you some other fruit of the season.

Am I wrong about that?
Is it enough that you find pleasure,
When the Spring comes again,
And the robin rings cheer through the morning.

In paying this tribute to the poet,
Whose words have perhaps expressed what you feel?
If that is the case, All Baba,
And Casim agrees with you that it is the case,
Then, pray, let us do nothing about it.
Since I must be wrong.

Maybe you have that right.
I cannot say.
I know only that I have the mushrooms again.

My dancing feet are still:
No brilliant plumage flashes in the sun.
And YOU, poor fool—
How much I miss!

Save a fierce pride—flaming high.

STRAY THOUGHTS.

It seems that opera stars were made to be heard, not to be married.

The Antigonish ghost has gone the way of other ghosts; they prove to be more ghost-like than ghost-like as it were.

And by the way, what has become of the ghost that used to make his appearance simultaneously with the pay envelope? I haven't seen one for a hell of a long time.

We have a hunch that when newspaper men in Washington said it with shears to Secretary of State Hughes the other day they had in mind whiskers, not Gordian knots.

Increasing the price of seats in the Senate will not enhance its value, and if men will pay cents to get in it would be cheaper for the people to pay 'em dollars to stay out.

There is nothing like checking up once in a while. Jack Blanton as to Mr. Bryan and the treaty fight. "William Jennings Bryan scolds Senate Democrats for opposing the alliance with Japan. Two years ago, however, William Jennings was actively co-operating with Harding and Lodge in the work of scuttling the League of Nations. His hatred for Wilson was so intense that it blinded him to the best interests of his country."

DISILLUSIONMENT.
THE world was a fairy place.
All my senses thrilled
With the very joy of living.
My dancing feet scarce touched the earth.
And then YOU came!
I gave all.
And I had so much to give!
You caged me.
A sunny, wild canary.
I beat my wings against the cruel bars
Of jealousy, suspicion, inconceivably selfish love.

Of what avail?
My dancing feet are still:
No brilliant plumage flashes in the sun.
And YOU, poor fool—
How much I miss!
Of life and love!
Are you content
With the transformation you have wrought?
Behold! A drab little sparrow
Save a fierce pride—flaming high.
A shield
To hide my misery from the eyes of the world.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

CITY'S UNPLEASANT NOTORIETY.

From the Columbus Dispatch.

THE President of the Board of Police Commissioners of St. Louis has given a glowing example of at least one way in which the duties of such office should not be performed. On the basis of gossip which had come to his ears, he made a public statement that in one of the leading high schools of the city, there existed a secret organization of girls in which a conspiracy of membership was a previous violation of the laws of social purity.

In any great city high school, under the requirements of compulsory public education laws, there are likely to be a few pupils, of both sexes, from families in which the principles of social purity are not or theoretically inculcated nor practiced.

It is one of the tasks of educators to watch for such cases and see that they do not become serious vicious infection. It is a matter, however, which reticence, and not sensational publicity, is a prime condition of success. The sensational public statements of Commissioner Miller have probably themselves done the young girls of St. Louis more harm than the pupils of the Soldan High school have received from the few vicious characters that may be found among the many hundreds of upright and respectable boys and girls there enrolled. The Commissioner has already shown his inability to select his statements, and his resignation would doubtless be the greatest moral service which he could now render to the city.

GERMANY'S NEW LEADER.
From the Christian Science Monitor.

THAT Walter Rathenau should have been Minister of Foreign Affairs for the German Government by Chancellor Wirth is a fact of no small importance bearing upon the economic situation that would appear on the face of it. That he should now be put at the head of German foreign affairs may reasonably be regarded as an indication of the desire of Germany to regain some measure of the world's respect.

Metropolitan by training, Liberal in his political views, Rathenau in all his utterances shows a keen sense of the value of the League of Nations, and that he should be placed at the head of the great sacrifices which will be necessary to the fulfillment of these tasks. A mere diplomat, man skilled only in international negotiation, could hardly have been able to select his statements, and his resignation would doubtless be the greatest moral service which he could now render to the city.

ROMICIDES IN AMERICA.
From the Johnston Democrat.

FOR the past several years, the number of murders in the United States has averaged annually more than 3000 a year. That is not 25 murders a day. Mexico does not show that many people when it has a war on its borders. Russian anti-revolution committees cannot count that mark. More people are murdered in the United States than are slain in Great Britain, France and Germany. Compared with our own people, we are a race of killers.

Enough, it is our habit to insist that all the murders in this country are committed either by gross or foreigners. If that were the case, it is not the question would naturally arise, why it was that men who were fairly respectable in the old country suddenly developed into murderers when they landed on our shores.

But that we are a restless, hot-tempered race, it is not the question would naturally arise, why it was that men who were fairly respectable in the old country suddenly developed into murderers when they landed on our shores.

HODGE'S DRAWL ONCE MORE FOILS VILLAIN

Homely Virtues Win the Girl and the Money in Actor's Latest Play, "Dog Love."

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

WE are all familiar with the bedraggled heroines of the stage, who, reeling from a drink in the most vicious opium hell of Shanghai, tremulously assure the world that "I am a good woman!"

The "Dog Love," a concoction by William Hodge, which arrived at the Shubert-Jefferson last night with the virtuoso of hokum in the principal role, all the appearances are as George Oliver, a wronged noble youth, who is attempting to conduct a hound-hotel at Greenwich, Conn.

Unscrupulous wretches from the nearest metropolis of New York, with vulgar rapacity, come from one of the most famous of the canine canyons, where a roadhouse, bootlegging, and the sale of stolen goods, flourish in the most unscrupulous manner.

How could he be otherwise, with that many drawl coming from one of the most famous of the canine canyons, where a roadhouse, bootlegging, and the sale of stolen goods, flourish in the most unscrupulous manner.

The curtain rises with George, a former bank clerk, hanging in the chains of a prison, and that in one of the lead-ship, there existed a condition in which a condition of the most unscrupulous manner.

It goes without saying that the downtrodden young man of the first act becomes monarch of all he surveys in the third; and that villainous, Constables and the hero, who has in his pocket a check for $10,000, which Appleton pays for George's services in reconciling him with Mrs. Appleton.

The first-night audience seemed to find considerable relief in Hodge's attempt to say "arid-bits of humor, and to approve of "Dog Love" as a comedy. There are two quadrants in the cast—the polite Mimi and a vastly broad English bull.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand H. Manger and their daughter, Miss Marjorie Manger, of 5354 Waterman avenue, have as their guests, Miss Manger's aunt, Miss Marie Manger of Denver, who has spent the winter in California. She will visit in St. Louis two weeks before returning to her home and several parties have been planned for her. Friday Mrs. Manger gave a luncheon in her honor, and this evening she will be the honor guest at a theater party.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Wiederhold of 4422 McGovern avenue, and Israel Ginzburg took place very quietly at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Rabbi Rosenblatt, officiating. There were no attendants and the guests were limited to members of the immediate families. The house was decorated in pink roses, sweet peas and ferns. The bride wore a simple dress of white Canton crepe, and her tulle veil was caught to her hair with lilies of the valley. She carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Ginzburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ginzburg of Chicago, and the couple will make their home there.

Two "first-time" sketches for orchestra by the American composer, A. Walter Kramer, ensued—"Valse Triste" and "Chant Negre." Both were well received and showed several effective touches of instrumentation. The first, "The Bat," by Johann Strauss, was another charming number; and Delibes' "Pizzicati," given as an extra, was itself encircled. In conclusion, came the "William Tell" overture.

The orchestra departed at 9 o'clock this morning on the longest spring tour in its history. There will be concerts this afternoon and evening at Mexico, Mo., and a pair of concerts tomorrow at Columbia. On Wednesday afternoon and Thursday evening will be given the fifth and final pair of concerts in Kansas City, with Director Ganz and Michel Gustafson as soloists. The orchestra goes on to Dallas, beginning a visit of three weeks in the Southwest. Returning to St. Louis for Holy Week, the organization will tour for two weeks in Illinois and Iowa.

Mrs. Ethel Beall Dies. Mrs. Ethel Beall, wife of Charles Beall of St. Louis, died Friday in Los Angeles, Cal., where she went for the improvement of her health some time ago. Mrs. Beall was 74 years of age. She was married to Mr. Beall in 1884. She had two children, a son, J. K. Butler of Alton. She was a member of the St. Louis Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. The body will be brought back to Alton for burial.

MRS. R. E. SPEER TO BE WIDELY ENTERTAINED

Arrangements Made for Visit of Y. W. C. A. National Head Who Arrives Wednesday.

Arrangements are complete for the entertainment of Mrs. Robert E. Speer of Englewood, N. J., national president of the Y. W. C. A., who will arrive in St. Louis Wednesday to spend two days in the interest of the campaign for the debt and maintenance fund which the "Y" is preparing to launch. Thursday afternoon at 2:30 she will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Edward Mallinckrodt, of 16 Westmoreland place, and that evening Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bond Foulke of 20 Westmoreland place will be hosts at an evening affair in her honor. The Committee on Arrangements for the party include Mrs. Pouke, Mrs. Peyton T. Carr, Mrs. Max Kotary, Mr. Harvey G. Mudd, Mrs. William Stickney and Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe.

Mrs. Speer will be a guest at Hotel Statler during her visit here, and Thursday she will speak at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon on the subject "What About Our Girls?" On the same day Mrs. J. Porter Tirrell and Mrs. Robert Lee Hedges, of the divisions A and B respectively, in the Y. W. C. A. campaign organization, will be hostesses at a luncheon for the 30 captains of women's teams, at 1 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. Other events scheduled for the week in preparation for the campaign include a campaign luncheon for the 150 members of Y. W. C. A. girls' teams, Tuesday at 6 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria, and a national meeting of foreign-born team workers Wednesday at 11 o'clock at the International Institute.

As president of the National Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Speer is spokesman for almost a million women in the United States and directs work in 15 foreign countries. In her official capacity she will play a prominent part in the National Y. W. C. A. convention, which is to convene at Hot Springs, Ark., April 20.

"AULD LANG SYNE" IS SUNG AT FINAL "POP"

Audience and Musicians Stand to Join in Melodious Farewell Till November.

There was an affecting moment at the end of yesterday afternoon's popular concert at the Odeon, which marked the Symphony Orchestra's final appearance in its home city until next November, and the close of the orchestra's first season as a symphony director.

The orchestra had played Rossini's overture to "William Tell" and the large audience, in its applause, seemed not only to be rewarding a handsome performance, but expressing its farewell. Director Ganz caused the musicians to rise, and then to play "Auld Lang Syne." The audience sprang to its feet, and there was another crash of hand-clapping.

The concert ventured to do without a soloist, but the program was one of the orchestra's most stirring. The Sunday offerings. It began with that vivacious overture of Smetana, "The Bartered Bride," after which

QUEEN OF ENGINEERS AT WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

MISS GEORGIA HUGHES.

1620 South Grand avenue departed yesterday for New York to sail for Europe. They will spend several months in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Austria. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson will sail on the same boat.

Dr. J. Edward Kirby will be the speaker at the current topic meeting of the St. Louis Woman's Club Thursday, following the table d'hôte luncheon. His subject will be "Russia, Today and Tomorrow." Owing to conflicting dates, Miss Hourigan of New York will not arrive in St. Louis to keep her engagement on that date as announced. Mrs. Thomas C. Young will entertain the board of directors of the club and the guest of honor at the luncheon, and Mrs. Samuel Baer will also entertain a party of friends.

Miss Carolyn Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bailey of 4556 West Pine boulevard, entertained the members of the Debutante Bridge Club today at a luncheon preceding the card game. Included in the club are Misses Elise Garneau, Elizabeth Terry, Elizabeth Cook, Gloria Gidinger, Florence Leland, Mary Etta Randolph, Elizabeth Parker and Janet Gregg.

Mrs. John Donahoe of 5945 Washington boulevard will entertain 22 guests at a dinner party tomorrow afternoon.

"THE LOTUS EATER" FINE FILM DRAMA

Wallace Reid Does Excellent Character Work in "The World's Champion."

In "The Lotus Eater," this week's attraction at the New Grand Central and West End Lyric, John Barrymore has brought to the screen a greater measure of those talents which won him stage supremacy than he has evidenced in any of his appearances as a film actor, not even excepting his memorable shadow characterizations in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

From a scenic standpoint this is a superlatively beautiful production and the story of the man who left his faithless wife and drifted in a dirigible to a far-off island inhabited by a communistic colony is told with rare art and intelligence. It would have been easy to use all of the old stock movie melodramatic in the Island episode, but instead of handling it in this hackneyed way Director Neelan and Actor Barrymore stepped from the beaten track and made it the vehicle for some of the finest touches of humor imaginable. It snatches of Barrie and Dunsany in its whimsical handling. On the island every man is free to follow his own bent and everything is free. There is a checkered restaurant and a bar where everything is on the house and where one of the fixtures is a lamp post for the convenience of customers.

Of course there are many serious episodes which give Barrymore an opportunity to show his wonderful powers of facial expression and skill at make-up. The cast is a notable one with Anna Q. Nilsson as the wife and Colleen Moore as the island beauty who captures the marooned husband's heart. A good picture all the way.

A feature at the New Grand Central and West End Lyric also is the personal appearance of Wesley (Freddie) Barry, 14-year-old movie star who makes an amusing little talk on his experiences in the studios.

The Missouri Bill. Wallace Reid has an excellent medium for his talents in "The World's Champion" at the Missouri. This is a picture version of "The Champion" in which Grant Mitchell made a notable stage success.

The story is that of an English soldier's son who grows tired of the tedium of the home circle and runs away to America. While traveling as a stowaway he falls in with a trainer of prizefighters and necessity forces him into the fight game.

After winning the middleweight championship he returns to his family, which has never heard of his prowess, as he has fought under the ring name "Gunboat Williams." When his father learns the truth he flies into a rage and orders the son's prowess with his fists is the one thing that was needed to win the regard of the sporting upper circles into which the family had been trying so hard to break.

The champion wins the daughter of an Earl. She, too, is tired of tedium and snobbery, and together they leave it all behind and sail for America. The story is well directed and beautifully pictured.

On the Missouri bill also is the first installment of a much-heralded German film, "The Mistress of the World," which is to be shown in four weekly installments. It has been cut to such an extent that it is hardly fair to pass judgment on its present form. The first installment is rather tame in comparison with American serials. At times it borders on the burlesque.

The Liberty has a varied program, the dramatic feature of which is "Flower of the North," a James Oliver Curwood story, with Henry B. Walthall and Pauline Stark in the leading roles. This is a tale of the Canadian Northwest, where the hero is a foreman of important construction and development work. He is trying to get the title to an important right of way and villains are working against him. There are several "thrilling" scenes, a canoe ride through rapids by Miss Stark and a battle between construction gangs, with Indians coming in at the critical moment to save the day for the hero's defenders. On the bill also are a Harold Lloyd comedy, an Al St. John comedy and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon comic.

At the Delmar and Criterion the bill for the first half of the week is Herbert Rawlinson in "The Scrapper."

KANSAS CITY OFFER FOR NEXT YEAR REFUSED BY SYMPHONY

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 20.—Sigmund Harzfeld, president of the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra Association, reiterated today the statement made by Miss Anna Miller, manager for the association, regarding a season of visiting orchestras next year, instead of re-engaging the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra for an entire season.

The St. Louis orchestra was not re-engaged, he said, because an offer which was made on a reasonable and competitive basis was refused by the St. Louis orchestra.

W. Nölker Funeral Held.
The funeral of Herman W. Nölker, formerly of St. Louis, who died Friday at Hot Springs, Ark., of illness incident to age, was held this morning from an undertaking establishment at 321 Olive street, with burial at Valhalla Cemetery. Nölker came to St. Louis from Houston, Tex., in 1898. He was born in Germany. A son, Herman W. Nölker of the Buckingham Hotel, survives him.

"$17,000 to My Credit"

"My savings plan is just 36 years old. My 30th birthday, New Year, and a raise in salary all happened to come together, and I made a resolution to start saving. I started to put away $30 every month, and stuck to it, sometimes falling behind, but always catching up again. I kept this up steadily for ten years, and when I was 40 I had about $4,200. . . . This I invested at 6 per cent in First Mortgage Notes, and reinvested the interest as I collected it. Now, at the age of 66, I have more than $17,000 to my credit. I have kept this money separate, because it is the result of just 10 years' work, and I figure that 4/5 of it is compound interest."

—C. E. L.

Note—This plan was the base for our slogan, "Save $1 a day, have $4,250 in 10 years."

ALLEGED FEMALE FAGIN HELD BY POLICE IN CHICAGO

Woman Accused of Directing Criminal Activities of Her Son, 19, and Mulatto Youth, 16.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 20.—Through the arrest of two boys and the mother of one of them, the police today believed they had broken up the most unusual and unscrupulous group of criminals in the city. The boys, Charles Shader, 19 years old, and Frank Lee, 16, were held with Shader's mother in connection with crimes ranging from larceny, criminal assault on a mute woman, to murder. Mrs. Shader was declared by the police to be a female Fagin, who directed the activities of the youths and forced them into a life of crime.

Sometime ago Shader, the woman's husband, was found shot to death in his home, a large pistol by his side. A few days ago Margaret Shader, 16, sister of Charles, was found shot to death with the same pistol by her side. Her mother said she killed herself, when she was refused permission to marry Lee, the boy arrested with Shader and his mother. Lee is a mulatto, but the Shaders are white.

Mothers Don't Have To Increase The Dose WITH THIS FRUITY LAXATIVE

ORDINARY purgatives and laxatives "wear out." You have to take them more often—in larger and larger doses—in order to get the results you want.

With Analax—the Fruity Laxative—you need not increase the dosage, because the tonic effect is so wonderful and dependable. Analax is not an ordinary laxative. It is so different, so much like a fruit-candy, that you will be delightfully surprised.

Give Analax to the children any time they are fretful and peevish, or have a headache, and see how quickly it will clear up the condition. Get a box today from your druggist. In 15 and 30 cent sizes. The large size is most economical. At all druggists. Manufactured by McKesson & Robbins, Inc., 91 Fulton Street, New York City, who are also makers of Calox, the Oxygen Tooth Powder and the famous McK. & R. Hundred Health Helps.

The ancient Romans knew about good roads, though the purpose of building them was military, rather than commercial need. Shown above is a portion of the Via Claudia, built in 312 B. C. Later it became covered up, but in 1853 it was dug out for a distance of 11 miles, and is a fine auto highway, despite its age of more than 2400 years.

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

BETWEEN you and me—just what I think of the stingy husband would likely not be passed by the board of censors. If ever I felt like outwailing the law it is in his direction.

For the trouble of it is that no court can touch him in the ordinary family. I am speaking of the what-did-you-do-with-the-last-nickel-I-gave-you kind of husband. His main suffering is the fear of getting a generous impulse. And of all kinds of husbands the one that is most hated is the stingy kind.

You can forgive even a spendthrift husband, because there is some pleasure derived from his spending. But the stingy man never draws anything to him but dislike. And if you have ever watched this variety of family man you will note that he expands his chest and contracts his heart. He always has a great view of his importance in his home, and he usually thinks that but for him the world would stop going round.

Of all the letters that come to me from the miserable wives the majority are inspired by the man who sits on stretching the dollar so far that it is a forever threadbare—and so is his family. In most cases it is the man who has money to spend who is the greatest offender. Such a man only lives from the neck up. He hasn't any emotion, sympathy or sentiment. He solves everything by arithmetic, and if his brain could be opened it would be found to be filled full of figures.

Right before me is a long letter from a worn, tired little mother whose husband was as stingy as the man who raised the window to look out for fear he would wear out the pane of glass. He always strutted about prating to people what a great provider he was.

Yes, he was a so-called provider—that is, he paid the rent and the grocer and for the necessities, but never a cent for any pastime or pleasure for his poor wife or any of his children.

He pored over the accounts as they came in and knew when a package of pins was purchased. The poor wife dreaded the days when the bill came in. She knew she would have a bad hour. And she was never disappointed.

She rarely ever had a new dress, because every penny she could steal from her meager allowance she put on the children. And yet, mind you, she helped to make his little pile—every cent of it.

They began on a farm and she worked very hard from early dawn until late at night, and when they came to the city she did her best to keep expenses down, looking forward to the day when she could have a little to spend.

But in this particular case the worm turned, or rather the little worms did. As soon as the eldest boy and girl were old enough to make their own way they left home. They couldn't stand their stingy father any longer. It grieved the mother sorely to have them go, but she realized the strain that was put on them by the lord of the house and his everlasting nagging. For that is what a stingy husband does best of all—nag, nag, nag.

These two young people decided a plan of action. They would work hard and get their mother away, and the youngest child as well. That is what they really accomplished.

Somewhat the Lord was good to them and made it possible for them to make a home for their mother and younger sister.

Sluggish "Scrooge" woke up on a Christmas morning to find himself alone with his bank book and his empty hearth. And the reason of the little woman's present letter to me is that after three years this man begs her to come home and she seeks my advice.

Well, if she would accept my advice I would say: "Not on your life! Don't go back to him until he is ready to 'talk turkey' and is willing to take up his married life as he should have begun it—on the fifty-fifty basis."

I would like to talk to this husband something like this: "What right have you to expect love and sweetness and appreciation when your whole make-up is one of misery to everybody? You take the joy out of life by withholding the joy that belongs to your family. You pile up—for what? You measure everything from the standard of money, and that is all you get in return. Do you forget that you are living in the twentieth century and that woman is no longer a chattel, and your wife is an equal partner in the home that she has made? If you were to count up what she actually contributes to your comfort and success, you would get less than an equal partnership."

"Oh, come out of it. Realize that it's all very well to 'talk nothing and see wood,' but sometimes you get a woodpile that you never see burn. Better get the warmth of giving, which always gets you something in return whether it be from wife or children."

A stingy husband never got anything but bitter thoughts and disapproval and absent treatment. No happiness can ever obtain in the home where the head of the household is forever counting the cost. While it is all very well to be careful and look to the rainy day, it is just as important to let the sunlight of life come in when it can by way of a new dress, a new piece of furniture, a box of candy, or some other little treat.

Any family will bearken to the fact in time of distress when a period of saving must be endured. But the husband who is continually preaching "save" just builds for himself a monument of hate. He is always on the wrong end of the home shoe and nobody is ever drawn to him.

And what does he have in return for it? Only that he is leading it over everybody by his stinginess. Wise was the man who knew life so well when he said, "I would rather be a beggar and spend my money like a King, than be a King and spend my money like a beggar."

The Housewife's Scrapbook

When sprinkling table linens use one of the regular sprinklers, for a sugar shaker will do. Have water warm and to one quart of water add one tablespoon cold starch. The linen will then have the stiffness and gloss of new linen.

Much green is used in wash fabrics nowadays. Put a little alum in the rinsing water and it will retain its color.

Women who prefer to dry the handkerchiefs indoors during the cold weather should wash them, then soak over night in water in which a teaspoonful of cream of tartar has been dissolved. This will keep them white.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE.

LEWIS and Clark did not find, they made, the Oregon Trail. Probably no human being—not even an Indian—had ever before made the complete journey from the Atlantic Coast to the Columbia River.

It was a long and wearisome business. Little information was to be gained from the savage tribes along the way. There were no maps to follow. Mountain ranges continually rose before them, and over these it was not always easy to find passes that could be traveled.

Yet the two pioneers stuck to their job. And when they had finished it the way was blazed for anyone who chose to follow.

There is little pioneering to be done now—either across continents or through the mysterious thing we call life.

Most of the trails have been found and marked. We know from the testimony of other men which is the way to prosperity and which is the way to ruin.

Every biography marks a trail. Every book of history tells us where we may go safely and easily, where we shall have to toil over obstructions and where we shall be plunged in ruin.

Ordinary intelligence will enable us to read these signs. Ordinary intelligence ought to force us to follow them. But ordinary intelligence is not so generally distributed as one might imagine.

Despite the fact that signposts are set up from one end of life to another, a very large portion of the population are continually taking the wrong trails, and the air is filled with their complaints and lamentations when they are forced to retrace their steps and begin anew.

One of the greatest lacks of the average man is the power of observation. It is easy for us all to learn from the success or failure of others. But we pay no attention to the success or failure of others. We insist upon learning by our own experience, a thing which is impossible if we ever expect to make any worth-while advance.

If you will follow the signposts till you are 40, you may safely do a little pioneering, provided you don't get too far off the trail.

But you must keep your eyes open and your ears alert. The signposts will not shout at you. You must watch for them or you will miss them and go wrong.

A Loveless Marriage

The Absorbing Story of a Woman's Heart

By RUBY M. AYRES.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT.

I COULD distinguish my father's voice raised in fear or anger. My heart began to pound in my throat. With sudden impulse I went forward and opened the door.

In a moment there was utter silence. I stood in the doorway, my eyes blinded by the glare of light that filled the room. Then gradually I got used to it and began to distinguish objects.

The whole room seemed to be filled with men, most of them in evening dress. The atmosphere was smoky and smelt of spices. In the center of the room was a long table covered with green baize.

All this I took in during the silence that greeted my appearance. Then my father came forward. He looked furiously angry.

"How dare you come here in the middle of the night?" he began. He laid a rough hand on my shoulder. "How dare you?"

He stopped. Someone else had come forward and intervened.

"Who is the youngster, Daisy?"

I turned my frightened eyes to the speaker. He was a big, burly man with a good-natured face, and he wore a huge diamond stud in the bosom of his shirt front.

"That diamond fascinated me," I started at it all the time he was speaking.

The other men had gathered round. I seemed to be the center of attraction.

I stood there, miserable and frightened. I was wearing a plain serge frock with a white lace collar, and my hair hung in its heavy plaits on either shoulder.

"It's my daughter," I heard my father say angrily. "She did not know she only came home from school today. I'll see she is punished."

The red-faced man interrupted. "Nonsense! She hasn't done any harm. She looks scared to death as it is. What's your name, youngster?"

"Marjorie," I faltered.

"Well," he drew in a pocket and fished up half a crown—"here's something for you to buy sweets with. Now cut off to bed."

I clutched the coin in my trembling hand and escaped thankfully. The door shut hard on my heels. Out on the landing Miss Linnie seized me.

"Gracious heavens!" she cried. "Where have you been?"

"I explained as well as I could. I thought they were quarreling. I said helplessly. 'What were they doing in there on that green baize?'"

She looked at me suspiciously. "They were playing cards, child," she said at length.

"Oh!" I said disappointedly. "I thought it was something much more exciting."

But it was exciting enough, as I learned to my cost before I was many weeks older.

My father took me down the West End the following morning, as he had promised, and bought me more clothes than I had ever had in my life. Clothes quite unsuitable for my age, but I but know it, but clothes which delighted me—silk frocks and silk stockings, and high-heeled shoes. I was dazed and bewildered by the quantities of things which he ordered.

Afterwards we went to a hair-dresser's and, despite my objection, my hair was done up.

I very nearly wept during the operation, but afterwards, when the dresser—a very smart French woman—led me to a mirror and told me to look at myself, I could only be glad.

I had grown into a young lady, and I was only 15!

To me it seemed a pure delight. Afterwards I knew that it was a tragedy.

From that day began three years of purgatory. Before I had been with my father six weeks all the girls was off, and I could see the fingerbread of youth. It was not long before I discovered what I had been fetched away from school.

At first I did not understand. I had had no little experience of life. I thought it delightful to wear my new clothes and receive a great deal of attention. I liked the boxes of chocolates and bottles of scent which were showered on me. I thought it kindness itself when Mr. Furnival, the red-faced man who had intervened on my behalf that first night, gave me a gold bracelet with a large ruby in a heart-shaped setting.

OFTEN I have wondered since what changed my father from the easy-going, respected country gentleman he was to the swartling, drink-blowing, gambling rascal he afterwards became.

I discovered that four of the five years while I was at Miss Vivian's he had spent on the Continent, in some small French town, where he lived on the proceeds of similar gambling tables.

How he managed to escape the police in London I do not know to this day. Sometimes I have wondered if he squandered the same things as I know.

Night after night the same thing went on. Youths with more money than brains were enticed to the house and received of large sums in that back room, where the blinds were always kept drawn day and night. My father and Mr. Furnival seemed to have a kind of partnership, of which Mr. Furnival was the head. He was, I believe, the only person who had any control over my father. But for him I should have had a far harder time than I did.

Mr. Furnival was kind. He often gave me presents, and sometimes took me out to the theater or to dinner. I was a little afraid of him, but entirely without reason.

one can call a woman's instinct a "reason"—until one night nearly three years after I came to London. My father had been ill. He was often ill, and when he was I had to nurse him. He would not allow Miss Linnie in the room, and he only agreed to have a doctor when he felt so bad that he began to be afraid of the consequences.

Well, I had been with him all one hot summer's day, and felt utterly wretched and worn out.

I hated the life he forced me to lead. I often lay awake at night and racked my brains to think of some way to escape it, but somehow I never had the courage.

My father had fallen asleep, and I stood for a moment looking down at him and thinking how much he had aged and altered since that day he came to fetch me from school, and all at once the thought crossed my mind:

"If he dies, what will become of me?"

There was terror in that thought—I had no friend to whom I might turn; nowhere to go.

I never had any money beyond a few shillings. Anything I wanted my father bought, but I never had any large sum; perhaps he was afraid that if I had I should try and get away, because he knew how I hated the life—I had so often begged him to let me go.

I went out of the room feeling worn and weary and as I was going down the stairs I met Mr. Furnival.

It was quite late in the evening—about 9. I should think—and he had evidently just come in, for he wore an overcoat over his evening clothes.

"Hello, youngster!" he said. He still called me "youngster," though I was 18.

He stood on the stair below me, and barred my way with one hand on the banisters.

There were tears of sheer weariness in my eyes, and try as I did to prevent it, some of them trickled over and splashed down on to my frock.

His smile faded suddenly; he put his arms round my waist.

"What's the matter, kid?" he asked.

My heart began to thump nervously. I had a hand on his chest to hold him off.

"I'm only tired out," I said. "Please let me go."

But he would not—he drew me closer to him—I could feel how fast he was breathing. Suddenly he bent his head and kissed me passionately.

I had never really liked him, though he had always been kind, but now as he kissed me his lips touched mine. I knew that I hated him. I struggled like a mad woman, but he held me fast.

"Don't be silly," he said against my ear. "Didn't you know I love you? Didn't you know that I'd like to give you everything in the world? Kiss me, Marjorie, kiss me!"

I don't know what I should have done but Miss Linnie crossed the hall below.

He was forced to let me go then, and I turned and fled back to my room, and locked the door.

HAM SCALLOP

Chop cold ham and add an equal amount of bread crumbs. Season with pepper and salt, if needed. To each cup of the mixture add a tablespoonful of melted butter and sufficient milk to form a soft mass. Bake in muffin pan well greased and half fill the rings with the mixture. Carefully break an egg on top of each. Dust with pepper, salt and cracker meal and bake about eight minutes.

APPLE CUSTARD

Thoroughly mix one cup apple sauce with yolks of one egg. Sweeten if necessary. Fold in the stiffly beaten white of egg. Pour the mixture into custard cups, set in pan of warm water and bake about 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Boxer and Woolf Smell Something Good

By Thornton W. Burgess

Who by his appetite is ruled
In wisdom is but poorly schooled.

—Mother Bear.

Every day for a week Mother Bear and the cub, Boxer and Woolf Woolf, came out from their home under the great windfall deep in the Green Forest and prowled about. Each day they went a little further. Their feet were not as tender as at first. On the first two days after their long winter sleep they were not hungry. They didn't once think of eating. But now they grew hungrier every day. Already they had begun to lose the fat they had stored up under their black coats, before going to sleep at the beginning of winter.

There was little enough to eat at best. It is always so in the spring. It is a glad time for everybody in one way, but it is a sad time for many in another way. You see, at the time in all the year is food so hard to find as early in the spring. The more they roamed about the hungrier Mother Bear and Boxer and Woolf Woolf became. Here and there they dug up a few roots. They hunted for mice. But never did one of them get a stomachful at one time.

Early one evening they happened to go over near Farmer Brown's sugar house. Farmer Brown and his boy were not yet through making sugar, although the sap had stopped running. They had on hand a lot of syrup to be boiled down into sugar. Mother Bear suddenly sat up and sniffed long and hard. At once Boxer and Woolf Woolf did the same thing. Their eyes began to sparkle. The wandering Little Night Breeces were tickling their noses with a most delicious smell. It wasn't like the smell of honey, yet somehow it made them think of it. Their tongues hung out and their mouths watered.

"Oh," whispered Woolf Woolf. "Did you ever smell anything so good in all your life?"

Mother Bear growled. It was a low, deep, grumbly, rumbling growl down in her throat. It was a warning to keep still. The twins obeyed. They knew better than to disobey when Mother Bear growled like that. But their eyes danced with excitement, and how they did hope that Mother Bear would lead them straight to the place from which came that delicious smell.

After a few minutes Mother Bear moved ahead slowly and carefully, taking care not to snap a single little twig under her great feet. Doing just as she did, Boxer and Woolf Woolf followed.

The further they went the stronger grew that delicious smell and the more their mouths watered.

Finally Mother Bear stopped again and stood up to her full height. Of course, Boxer and Woolf Woolf did the same thing. Straight ahead of them was a queer dark mass with a couple of little squares of light in it. Of course you know what it was. It was Farmer Brown's sugar house.

In the Black Shadows and the squares of light were two little windows. From it was coming that delicious smell. It was the smell of the boiling syrup.

For a long time the three Bears stood there looking and listening and smelling. Strange noises came from that sugar house. It was all very interesting and very curious. Boxer and Woolf Woolf wanted to go straight over there and find out what it was that smelled so good. But Mother Bear didn't move and they knew better than to move until she did. All the time she kept carefully testing the air with her wonderful nose.

Presently she laid along her back her paw to her nose. She drew back her line showing her great teeth. Then without a sound she turned and hurried away.

Of course, Boxer and Woolf Woolf followed, though they were bitterly disappointed and couldn't understand it at all. Not until they were at a safe distance did Mother Bear tell them that in with that delicious smell she had found the man smell.

The Weekly Health Talk

By DR. MAX C. STARKLOPP,
Health Commissioner of St. Louis.

A CASE of anthrax recently came under the observation of the Health Department, in which the source of infection was traced to a shaving brush. The brush was of the cheap variety and had neither name nor trademark to identify the manufacturer. The United States Public Health Service sent out a warning in a circular letter upon this very point in 1919 in which they said:

"Any brushes found in the market which do not bear the name or trademark of the manufacturer should be regarded with suspicion. The brush should be returned to the source from which they were secured, or should be destroyed. For the sterilization of brushes the following procedure is believed to be effective. The brush should be soaked for four hours in a 10 per cent solution of formaldehyde. The solution should be kept at a temperature of 110 degrees F., and the brush so saturated as to bring the solution into contact with all hair or bristles."

Information contained in the United States Public Health Report, May 9, 1919, in reference to the source of anthrax-infected material used in the manufacture of shaving brushes, states that "shaving brushes used in the United States are, with unimportant exceptions, made from badger hair, horsehair or pig's bristles. With the Russian market closed the manufacture of shaving brushes comes from Oriental sources, China and Siberia furnishing by far the greater portion. This imported hair is notoriously dirty and likely to be anthrax-infected. The manufacture of shaving brushes is confined to about 20 establishments in the United States. The only point in the process of manufacture that needs to be mentioned is that bearing on the safety of the product. It was found that some establishments made no pretense of sterilizing hair or bristles, while others conducted the process in a very thorough manner. There were no grades between these extremes."

Anthrax is primarily a disease of animals, but is transmissible to man. The disease is usually transmitted to man through contact with animals suffering with the disease or by material contaminated with anthrax spores.

It might be well to mention here that in connection with germ life there are two principal forms, namely the vegetative and the spore form. The vegetative form is the natural form of all germ life and the spore form is that form assumed by certain bacteria when placed in an environment unfavourable to their propagation. This form permits them to sustain life under unfavorable conditions over a very long period of time. However, not all forms of germ life are capable of assuming this form. For example, the germ of typhoid fever and diphtheria do not assume this form and for this reason these germs are very readily destroyed by the usual forms of disinfection.

Such is not the case with the anthrax germ. It is capable of assuming the spore form and is therefore very resistant to the different methods employed in disinfection.

The question might be asked: "What is meant by favorable and unfavorable conditions?" Generally speaking, the temperature of the environment is the most common factor. The temperature for germ life in man is 98.6 F., suitable food and moisture.

The organism of anthrax enters the body through the skin, but cuts or abrasions offer opportunity for infection and these forms when in ally on the skin and below the surface may then be carried into the system by the action of breathing into the air, or by the action of the skin and bring about the direct handling of the horsehair.

The season of the year bears no relation to the disease of Europe, is now at work in the United States and are susceptible to the disease.

A Story of Romance and a Business Career in St. Louis
By Caroline Crawford

CHAPTER 91.
Peggy's Decision.
DESPITE Peggy's new ambition to succeed in the business world, Harrison Townley's love letter announcing that he was returning to St. Louis thrilled her. For a moment all her new plans of attending a night business school and living up to her employer's ideals fled. She felt that romance—the love of this man who was 10 years her senior—was the big thing in her life. Why should she seek a business career and plan to marry Billy Bracton, who was just starting on the first rung of the ladder of success, when here was a man who desired to marry her and had achieved the "top rung"? After all, weren't her parents right? They had been through some of the struggles of life and it was natural for them to want her to accept her most eligible suitor. Then the overpowering thought that that would be all for her if she married Harrison Townley took possession of her. If she were 25 how happy she would be with such a man as Townley, but to marry him at 18, to give up her girlhood and marry a man 10 years her senior, seemed too much of an undertaking. Peggy loved freedom; she loved to dance, to skate, to give parties to young people, and the companionship of young minds. She enjoyed entertaining Billy Bracton and the various young men of her acquaintance. Jack Reed, with his braggadocio, his frank "tell-em-what-I think-of-em" manner, pleased her. Percy Peterson, with his book of Hindu poems and guitar, was fascinating. To spend an evening with these young men made up a part of her girlhood. It was her spice of life. But if she married Townley she would have to become sedate, to step into twenty-five's shoes, to associate with his married sister and act "like a married woman." Yet her mother

YOU can always depend on Valier's Enterprise Flour. It's quality never varies. Nothing but fine, strong-gluten hard wheat goes into Enterprise Flour. Even the big premium which such wheat commands this year, because of its scarcity, couldn't induce us to use any other. If Enterprise were milled from ordinary wheat it would be no better than ordinary flour. We'd rather charge a few cents more for a sack of Enterprise and know that its quality is right. Whatever you bake with Enterprise will be fine, even-textured, full-flavored. Enterprise never causes a failure.

P. S. Valier's Enterprise Flour has concentrated strength. Eight or even less cups of Enterprise go as far as nine of ordinary flour. Use less flour when you bake with Enterprise.

Monty the Monkey Plays a Trick on Mary Jane

MONTY GIAMMARINARO had a steady job wearing a red soldier coat and hat, and collecting pennies for old Joe Giammarinaro. Old Joe used to come round with a hand organ every little while.

Well, one day Mary Jane was just starting for school, when Joe and Monty came along, and they played a tune. Mary Jane sat down to hear the music, and she put her lunch basket right alongside of her.

Finally Mary Jane gave Monty two cents, which he put in his little pocket. Then Monty came over and said, "Mary Jane, I bet I can hold a bigger bite in my mouth than you can." Mary Jane said she bet he couldn't. And Monty said he bet he could.

So Mary Jane opened her lunch basket and took out a great big piece of bread, with lots of rich Mary Jane Syrup on it. She broke off a piece, and gave it to Monty, and took a piece just like it for herself.

Monty took a big bite, and he put it in his left cheek, then he took another bite, and he put this in his right cheek. It made him look very fat and sassy. Then he took another bite. He kept this right in the middle of his mouth, and he chewed it all up.

Long before Mary Jane had finished with one bite Monty had eaten his 3 bites. And then Mary Jane found that she hadn't any Mary Jane "spread" for lunch, and she had to run for school, or she'd be late. For the school bell was just starting to ring. Monty waved his hand at her, and said "Next time I tell you anything, Mary Jane, you'll believe me."
